INTRODUCTION

This Manual is the result of an attempt to condense into handy shape the more important rules of procedure that have from time to time been laid down. The instructions in the Manual are, so far as they go, authoritative, but many orders are not included. All existing orders not specifically incorporated in the Manual remain in force.

2 As far as possible questions of policy have not been touched for such questions cannot be reduced to terms of compendious generalisation. The circumstances of States vary enormously as regards treaties, local conditions, economic and political and the idiosyncracies of Ruling Princes and Chiefs. All these circumstances have to be considered in dealing with political questions as they arise. Each case has to be considered on its merits, the object being to attain a result satisfactory at once to the Imperial Government and the Darbar. Precedents are valuable as a guide, but no more. They can only safely be followed when all conditions are the same, and conditions, as between different States, are rarely the same. Even in the matter of procedure it is not possible to secure uniformity without the sacrifice of larger interests and the rules in the Manual must in practice be elastic. Any substantial deviation from them should, however, be referred for the orders of the Government of India.

3 But while uniformity is unattainable and undesirable in itself, it is necessary to have some general instructions for the guidance of young officers joining the Department, in order to enable them to deal successfully with Darbars, to focus their ideas and to catch the true proportion of the questions which may come before them in detail. Such instructions are given in the following paragraphs.

the employment of State subjects wherever this is possible

- (iv) He should be careful to uphold the dignity of the Darbar, he should not interfere between the Darbar and its subjects, nor encourage petitions from the latter against the former nor should he on his tours inspect the district offices and institutions except at the wish or invitation of the Darbar
- (v) He should avoid doing anything which could violate or abate any pledge or engagement given by the British Government or a British officer
- (vi) He should leave well alone the best work of a Political Officer is very often what he has left undone

He will ordinarily find his relations with Darbars made easy if he cultivates frankness, courtesy, patience, tact, care in matters of ceremonial, and above all, readiness to see the good in things and slowness to criticise

2 The policy of the Government of India is a policy of non interference in the internal affairs of States, but there are exceptions to this policy though they are rare. Having guaranteed internal independence to the States and having undertaken their protection against external aggression the Imperial Government have assumed some responsibility for the maintenance of order and fairly efficient government in them and cannot consent to incur the reproach of being an indirect instrument of oppression. The degree of misrule which will call for interference is a question for decision on its merits in each case. It may be stated generally that, unless misrule reaches a pitch which violates the elementary laws of civilisation the Imperial Government will usually prefer to take no overt measures for enforcing reform and in any case the attempt to reform should, so long as is possible, be confined to personal suasion.

3 Circumstances have dictated the necessity for regulating certain matters, either because they are

CHAPTER I.

Official correspondence, etc.

1 In all official correspondence the point or points to which attention should be directed should be clear dated 18th Oct 1877, For

ly indicated in the letter about to issue in such a manner that a reference to enclosures of the letter A, dated 1902, may not be necessary in order to ascertain what subjects are communicated for information. The enclosures 16th Oct 1877, of a letter should include no paper which is not essential to a proper understanding of the question dealt with

So far as possible each letter should be confined to the treatment of a single subject, reference being made, where necessary, to separate letters dealing with connected questions

Any reference to a letter or resolution of the Government of India, or to previous correspondence, whether in the opening paragraph or in the body of a letter, or its enclosures, should be specific and precise, and comprise the date, year, number (with the letters if any affixed thereto) and the Department

Any allusion to a circumstance, or an event, of which the Government is supposed to be cognisant should be accompanied by a marginal reference to the paper in which it was reported, or, where this precision is not possible, the best clue that can be given should be afforded to permit of the matter being traced without unnecessary difficulty.

A copy of all maps, sketches, or plans, referred to, whether in the main letter or in enclosures, should be forwarded, where possible, with the papers, or else shortly after.

In all cases of territorial distribution or disputes, or where reference is made to localities but little known or whenever a map would elucidate a case, it is desirable that such a map or sketch should be forwarded, or that an allusion should be made to some well-known map. In the event of sudden disturbances, when such a map or reference is not immediately available, it should follow the first report as soon as possible.

The head of every official letter should show the name as well as the official designation of the writer, and special care should be taken to ensure that the name as well as the designation is transcribed on any copy of such a letter which may be forwarded to the Government of India.

2. The use of vernacular terms in official correspondence should be avoided. Vernacular forms to be avoided. In any case in which their use appears necessary the nearest English equivalent should be added parenthetically.

3. Vernacular documents should not ordinarily be forwarded to the Government of India. When, however, their transmission is necessary, they should always be accompanied by a translation.

4. Copies of letters received from or addressed to the Government of India should not ordinarily be sent to the Government of India. They should be forwarded to the Government of India only in exceptional cases, and only when the Government of India is requested to take action thereon.

G. O. No. 2010-I,
dated 15th Sept.
1890.

The foregoing rule does not apply to obviously confidential documents emanating from other departments of the Government of India communicated through the Foreign and Political Department.

5 Particular care should be used in the phraseology of all communications addressed to

Durbars, as language which may properly appear in departmental writing may be misunderstood or even resented when addressed to a Durbar. The terms of a letter of instructions from superior authority to a Political Officer may be unsuitable for verbatim reproduction in a communication to a Durbar based thereon

6 When any matter touching the interests or feelings of a Durbar forms the subject of a communication by a Political Officer to superior authority, it is important that the views and sentiments of the Durbar should be fully stated

But no recommendation involving important questions of principle, which to make on behalf of a Ruling Prince or Chief should be communicated to or discussed with him without the previous sanction of the Government of India

7 With a view to facilitate the disposal of business selected Political Officers in Rajputana and Central India having direct relations with Ruling Princes and Chiefs are authorised to correspond direct, at their discretion, with the Political Secretary to the Government of India, in matters of a complimentary character or purely personal to the Ruler. Such discretion should ordinarily not be exercised except at the special request of the Durbar concerned, and copies of all such communications should be supplied simultaneously by the Political Officer to the Hon'ble the Agent to the Governor General. In cases of real urgency other than those referred to above such Political Officers are also authorised, at their discretion, to forward to the Political Secretary copies of letters, or to repeat telegrams, addressed by them to the Hon'ble the Agent to the Governor-General.

8. In any matter personally affecting an officer of the Government, only the substance of the decision in the question should ordinarily be communicated to the officer concerned, with such statement of the grounds upon which it is based as may be necessary for the information of the officer and as may be considered expedient having regard to the circumstances of the case. The express permission of the Government of India must be obtained before (a) a despatch from or to the Secretary of State, or (b) correspondence between a Local Government and the Government of India indicating a difference of opinion, is communicated to any person.

9. The Government of India require prompt letters Nos. 248-257, dated 31st Jan. 1899, and No. 592, dated the 7th Nov. 1901, of the Home Dept. Special matters requiring prompt report.

- (1) Riots which involve a serious breach of the public peace;
  - (2) Collisions between Europeans and Indians other than assaults of an insignificant character or those regarding which there is no confirmation;
  - (3) Outrages which have a political aspect;
  - (4) Calumnies, such as floods or earthquakes which cause serious damage to life or property; and
  - (5) Other events which have a political or administrative importance or which have excited peculiar public interest.
- Reports on such matters should be telegraphed by Local Officers to the Local Government or Administration.

The Military authorities are interested in all cases which come under head (3) above and reports of reports in such cases, even when no military officers, soldiers or followers are concerned, should also be sent to the Officers Commanding the Stations at places where troops are stationed, or to the

General Officers Commanding Districts, if at places where there are no troops report the occurrence to the Officer Commanding the nearest military station who is responsible for the further action required by paragraphs 607 and 609 of the Army Regulations, India, Volume II. The report to the Officer Commanding should state, if possible, the date, cause and place of death of the deceased officer.

In the case of officers of the Political Department (both civilian and military), intimation of death or serious accident should be telegraphed to the Government of India in the Foreign and Political Department with the least possible delay.

11. To facilitate the transmission of information of death to their near relatives, officers are requested to place on record among their private papers particulars of the names and addresses of relatives in England to whom, in the event of their death, they would desire information to be given.

12. Telegraphic report should be made through the usual channel to the Government of India of interest or importance which arises during funeral and Chiefs entitled to a salute, especially in the case of the death of the ruler, the birth or death of an heir-apparent, the death of prominent members of the ruler's family, or where the ruler himself is intimately, of the marriage of a ruler.

When the Political Secretary is in contact with His Excellency the Viceroy, telegraphic reports of such events should be addressed to him in camp direct.

Like reports should also be made to the personal secretaries, subject to the following instructions.

111. When the survey of a projected line is being made, the officer-in-charge of the survey will consult the State concerned as to the alignment in the State which would best serve the commercial and other interests of the State, and while adhering to the general direction indicated in his instructions, MIFD endeavour as far as possible to meet the wishes of the State.

IV. When the surveys for a projected railway have been completed and information is available to enable a decision to be reached as to whether its construction should be undertaken, and if so, which route would be most suitable, the State or States concerned will be afforded ample opportunity for expressing their views in regard to both these points. Their views will also be invited as to the extent to which they should participate in the scheme, should the line pass through their territory, and the effect which it may produce on any railway system of their own. The necessary details, such as the extent of the participation, if any, of the State in the scheme and in the construction and working of the line, will be agreed upon before construction is begun.

V. The Government of India desire to encourage the investment of funds by States in railways constructed within State territories, and in the case of railways to be constructed by the Government of India contributions will ordinarily be accepted from States subject to the following conditions:—

- (i) the net earnings or loss of the railway shall be divided between Government and the State concerned in proportion to the capital contributed by each;
- (ii) the railways will as a rule be controlled entirely by the Government of India, but where a State has a substantial interest in the capital of a line passing through its territory, it shall, whenever practicable, be given suitable representation on the Advisory Board or Committee of such Railway;
- (iii) the investment made by a State will ordinarily be regarded as a permanent one, and a State will not participate in the interest of any property of its present or future Government, the Government of India, or the Government of any other Province, in the management of the railway.

the holder, or on terms approved by the Government of India

- (iv) the Government of India will be under no obligation to purchase a State's interest in the line at any time, nor will a State be under an obligation to sell its interest at any time, but if a State wishes to sell and the Government of India agree to buy, or vice versa, the terms of transfer will ordinarily be based on the terms governing the purchase of branch lines for the time being, but will be subject to variation by mutual agreement.

VI. In the case of a State owning shares in a Railway Company, there is no objection to the State parting with such shares as an ordinary shareholder.

VII States will also be encouraged to invest funds on a profit-sharing basis in lines outside their own territory in which they are interested. Each application will be considered on its merits and facilities will be granted to contribute, it being understood that the matter is entirely in the discretion of the Government of India. When making a decision, Government will ordinarily take into consideration, inter alia —

- (i) whether the line is adjacent to the applicant State, and
- (ii) the amount of contribution which the interests of the applicant State entitle it to make

The terms regarding distribution of profits and management of the line will be matters for separate determination in each case, and the principles laid down in paragraph V (iii) and (iv) will be applicable mutatis mutandis to the transfer or purchase of a State's interest in the line

VIII. (i) The assent of the Government of India

Construction of railways by States within or outside their own territory is an essential preliminary to the construction or extension of any railway by a State. The reasons for this are as follows —

Although the Government of India desire in every way to encourage useful railway construction by States, it must often happen that a railway line planned by one State will, if carried out, affect prejudicially the interest of other railway lines, in being or planned, either in adjacent British territory or in the territory of a neighbouring State or States. The Government of India, therefore, in their capacity of custodian of the other interests concerned, consider it imperative that in such cases a full enquiry should be made before assent is given to a project which may prove prejudicial to the interests of other States or to the railway development of a particular area as a whole. The same principle is applied in the case of British projects which may prejudicially affect State interests.

(ii) Railway built by Indian States will be subject to the maximum and minimum rates and fares prescribed by the Railway Department of the Government of India which may for the time being be in force on Indian Railways generally.

(iii) The Government of India recognise the price claim of a State to construct and work a new line or extension within its own territory subject to the general provisions of subparagraph I and IV above.

IX. It should be understood that a survey by a State of a line within its own territory with or without reference to the Government of India does not constitute an agreement that the line will be granted to the Government of India.

X. When a State takes possession of a line for its own use, it shall be subject to the same conditions as those which apply to a line taken possession of by the Government of India. The State shall be responsible for the maintenance of the line and for the payment of the running expenses. The State shall be responsible for the payment of the interest on the capital expended on the line. The State shall be responsible for the payment of the depreciation on the capital expended on the line. The State shall be responsible for the payment of the cost of the line.

"I / of hereby cede to the British Government full and exclusive power and jurisdiction of every kind over the lands in the State which are, or may hereafter be, occupied by the Railway (including all lands occupied for stations, for outbuildings and for other railway purposes) and over all persons and things whatsoever within the said lands'

21 The following are the principles to be observed in the assessment of compensation for land required in British India and in Indian States for railway purposes —

- (1) When land in British territory is required for the purposes of a railway constructed or to be constructed at the expense of an Indian State, such land as is in private ownership will be acquired by the British revenue authorities, as for a public purpose, under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act. The Durbar will be required to pay, as compensation for the land made over to them, the actual amount of the awards paid in the case of private land, and in the case of Government land the full market value plus such incidental items of expenditure as the cost of establishment, demarcation and stationery. The Durbar will also be required to pay compensation for the value of extinguished land revenue, the amount to be settled by negotiation in individual

and in Indian States for railway purposes —

(1) When land in British territory is required for the purposes of a railway constructed or to be constructed at the expense of an Indian State, such land as is in private ownership will be acquired by the British revenue authorities, as for a public purpose, under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act. The Durbars will be required to pay, as compensation for the land made over to them, the actual amount of the awards paid in the case of private land, and in the case of Government land the full market value plus such incidental items of expenditure as the cost of establishment, demarcation and stationery. The Durbars will also be required to pay compensation for the value of extinguished land revenue, the amount to be settled by negotiation in individual cases, due regard being had to the indirect advantages accruing to the British Government from the railway. Where differences of opinion between the Durbar and the revenue authorities occur as to the compensation payable on account of extinguished land revenue, an arbitrator shall be appointed by the Local Government concerned or, in the case of Durbar in direct political relations with the Government of India, by the Government of India, and his decision shall be final.

4) In order to give effect to these general principles, the following procedure should be adopted —

In all cases in which it is proposed to acquire land for railway purposes and the Durbars are entitled to compensation, estimates of the amount payable will be framed as expeditiously as possible by the Durbars, and forwarded to the Railway Administration concerned, who should be given all necessary facilities for checking the estimates. If such estimates are accepted by the latter, they will be treated as a settlement. Where, however, differences of opinion between the Durbars and the Railway Administration concerned occur as to the compensation payable, or where the amount of an award is raised by action in a Court of Law and the Railway Administration is not prepared to pay to the Durbars the increased sum demanded, arbitration will take place. If both parties signify in writing their consent to such a course, the arbitrator shall be the Political Officer concerned, and his decision will be final. In other cases the compensation payable will be assessed by an arbitrator appointed by the Government of India, in the case of a Durbars which has not direct political relations with the Government of India, by the Local Government concerned. With this arbitrator will be associated a representative of the Durbars and a railway official, and the award will be final. In these latter cases the arbitrator will decide the incidence of the cost of the arbitration.

5) In determining the amount of the compensation payable, Political Officers and other arbiters will be guided by the general principle that the amount shall be equivalent to what would have been payable by the Durbar had acquisition taken place in British territory and had compensation been assessed in the manner laid down in clause (1) ante.

(6) Where land is acquired either for a Durbar's railway in British territory or for a State railway or railway worked by a Company in Indian State territory, the compensation paid under the provisions of the foregoing clauses will be held to cover the right to quarry stone and to excavate sand, clay, earth or other material for the purposes of the railway on the land so acquired without payment of royalty.

22. The principles explained below are applicable only to States the Rulers of which are members of the Chamber of Princes in their own right. In the case of other States and Estates, especially those which under the terms of their Sanads are bound to conform to the political authorities in mining matters, the principles embodied in the Resolution may be applied to such extent as the Government of India may consider desirable. The Government of India are pleased to delegate their powers to Government of Provinces in regard to States which are in a similar relations with them.

I. Minerals will be divided into two categories:—

- (1) essential minerals, i.e., the necessary for key industries or other important purposes in war times, &c.
- (2) the following metals and their alloys:—

After paragraph 21, insert the following paragraph —

The following are the principles to be observed in the assessment of compensation for land required in British India and in Indian States respectively for irrigation navigation and drainage works and connected with or subsidiary to them —

I When land in British territory is required by or at the expense of an Indian State, such land as is in private ownership will be acquired by British revenue authorities for a public purpose under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act. The State will be required to pay as compensation for the land made over to it the actual amount of the reward paid in the case of private land and in the case of Government land the full market value plus such incidental items of expenditure as the cost of establishment, demarcation and compensation amount to be regarded being —

the
due re
British
Government from the works etc. In cases which involve the submergence of considerable areas compensation for the loss of miscellaneous revenue derived from such areas may be payable in addition. Where differences of opinion occur between the State concerned and the local revenue authorities as to the compensation payable a Board of Arbitration will be appointed consisting of one member appointed by the State another by the Government of India (or by the Local Government in the case of a State which is in direct relations with a Local Government) and a third member appointed by mutual consent and their decision shall be final

II

Before making an award in the case of private land in British territory to be acquired for a State, or fixing the amount of compensation in the case of Government land the responsible officer will be required to send all necessary details, together with the estimates of the amounts payable, to the State and to give every facility for checking them to the officer or the officers concerned for the purpose, and to take into consideration any representation which such officer or any other duly accredited representative of the State may make whether orally or by letter. Such officers or compensation is fixed

III When land is required in State territory the general principle to be observed shall be that the same degree of compensation shall be paid to the State concerned as is payable by States under the provisions of the preceding clauses. In the case of those States and Rulers who under the terms of their Treaties, Sinads and any other existing contracts are bound to provide any facilities or land in their territories free of cost the question whether compensation will be paid or not will be left for negotiation between the political authorities and the State concerned.

IV In order to give effect to these general principles the following procedure shall be observed —

In cases in which it is proposed to acquire private rights in land in a State
 1. Where there is no Land Acquisition Act or where the State itself owns or has rights in the land which it is proposed to acquire the estimates of the amount payable will be framed by the State authorities and forwarded to the Local Government concerned who will be afforded the facilities specified in clause II for checking the estimate. If such estimates are accepted by the Local Government they will be treated as a settlement. Where however differences of opinion occur between the State authorities and the Local Government concerned as to the compensation payable arbitration will take place. The compensation payable shall be assessed by a Board of Arbitration consisting of one member appointed by the State another by the Government of India or the Local Government in the case of a State which is in direct relations with a Local Government and a third member appointed by mutual consent, and their decision shall be final. The Board of Arbitration will decide the incidence of the cost of arbitration.

V In determining the amount of compensation payable, the arbiters will be guided by the general principle that the amount shall be equivalent to what would have been payable by the State had acquisition taken place in British territory and had compensation been assessed in the manner laid down in clause I supra.

VI When a work is constructed by a State or States in British territory

 In cases where rates of royalty for quarrying stone and excavating

ing material are levied, resort will be had to arbitration in the manner provided in clause IV above in the event of agreement is to the rates payable not being reached

VII When a work is constructed in State territory, the owner is prima facie to be observed will be that the authorities in charge of the work shall enjoy the same rights as regular quarrying stone or excavating material as they would be entitled to in British territory, the rates of royalty if any I wish to be determined in accordance with the rules in force in the State. In cases where there are no such rules or where the authorities in charge of the work consider that the rates under State rules are unduly high, resort will be had to arbitration in the manner provided in clause IV above

VIII Where land is required for temporary occupancy in the procedure in British India will be under Part VI of the Land Acquisition Act, and in States in which a law on the same lines is in force under that law. In cases where there is no such law the terms of occupation will be determined by mutual agreement and in cases of dispute is to the terms by arbitration in the manner prescribed in clause IV

manganese, molybdenum, nickel, platinum, tungsten, zinc, and

(b) coal, magnesite, mica, petroleum, sulphur

(2) non essential minerals, i.e., agate, alum and other salts of alumina not used as ores of aluminum, antimony, arsenic and its salts, asbestos, barytes, china clay (kaolin), corundum, dolomite, felspar, fire clay, fuller's earth, garnet, gemstones, gold, gypsum, iron, lead, limestone and marble, ochres, silica, silver, soapstone (steatite, talc), tin, vanadium, monazite, pitchblende, pyrites and any others not mentioned

[NOTE 1 — Minerals dealt with by the Salt Department such as salt and saltpetre are excluded from consideration in this connection.]

[NOTE 2 — It is possible that in future the development of scientific knowledge may make it desirable to transfer particular minerals from one group to the other.]

II The Government of India invite States in the interests of the Empire and their own interests,

(a) in dealing with "essential" minerals to adopt the general policy embodied in the Government of India rules for the grant of prospecting licences and mining leases,

(b) in respect of all minerals to impose such restrictions regarding the nationality of concessionaires as may be imposed in British India

III The principal features of the policy of the Government of India which they consider it expedient that Indian States should follow in respect of essential minerals are as follows —

(1) Prospecting licences should be granted for short periods only, viz., for one year renewable for a further term of two years. The Government of India are considering whether the period of a prospecting licence for petroleum should not be extended, if good reasons exist, up to five years.

- (2) Mining leases should be granted for long periods, but not exceeding 30 years, with option of renewal for a further period of 30 years. In case of renewal the State retains the right of revising the rate of royalty.
- (3) The maximum area granted in any State under a mining lease to any individual lessee or others joint in interest should be 10 square miles.
- (4) In granting concessions States should, in the interests of the Empire and in their own interests, reserve the right of pre-emption of the output of minerals.
- (5) No concessions should be granted to a person, other than a subject of the State concerned, who does not hold a certificate of approval from the Government of India or a local Government or the Indian State of which he is a subject, and every transfer or assignment of a concession or any interest thereunder should be made only (1) to a person holding a certificate of approval from the Government of India or a local Government or the Indian State of which he is a subject, or (2) to a subject of the State concerned.

IV. As regards non-essential minerals, while States would be well advised in their own interests to follow the same policy as in the case of the essential minerals, the chief points on which the Government of India lay stress is that the co-operation of States should be invited in refusing concessions to persons whose nationality, under such restrictions as may be imposed from time to time in British India, would debar them from securing a share even in British India.

V. At present foreigners are debarred from securing mining concessions in British India. Any change of policy in this respect will be communicated to the Durbars.

VI. Draft rules for the grant of prospecting licences and mining leases in Indian States modelled on the rules of the Government of India are published for the information of the Durbars. (Vide Appendix XVII). It is desirable that the rules formulated by Durbars should always include the provisions specified in paragraph III above relating to "essential minerals."

CHAPTER III.

Telegraphs and Telephones.

For. & Pol. Deptt.
Resolution No.
242-L, dated 6th
Dec. 1923.

23. I. The following are the principles regarding construction and maintenance of telegraph systems in Indian States, including train controlled wire, but excluding wireless systems, in Indian States:—

- (i) The maintenance of a unitary telegraph system throughout India is a matter of Imperial importance and it is advisable that the construction and maintenance of the system should be under the direct control of the Indian Posts and Telegraphs Department.
- (ii) The right of States to share in the profits of the system within their respective territories on an equitable basis, to be mutually discussed hereafter, is recognised.
- (iii) The right of a State to construct, maintain and work its own independent telegraph system for internal purposes for gain or otherwise, wholly within its own boundaries and not connected with the Imperial system, is recognised. Where a State desires to extend its own system beyond its own boundaries the previous consent of the Government of India will be necessary, and, if such an extension is to enter the territories of another State, the previous consent of that State will also be necessary. Where a State desires to connect its system to an Imperial telegraph line, the previous consent of the Government of India will be required, and the Government of India will fix the conditions regarding such connection as it may deem necessary.
- (iv) On account of the importance of the internal telegraph system in the construction of all other telegraph systems, the construction of all other telegraph systems shall be subject to the approval of the Imperial telegraph system.

thereto should be sent to the Government of India for the information of the Indian Posts and Telegraphs Department. It would be convenient for important additions or alterations to be intimated as soon as possible.

- (i) The consent of the Government of India to the construction of a railway to be owned and worked by a State includes consent to the construction of a telegraph system for purely railway purposes. Should a State desire to open such a Railway telegraph system to the public arrangements should be made in consultation with the Government of India as provided in the next clause.
- (ii) After previous consultation with the Government of India Railway telegraph systems along railways owned and worked by a State may be opened to public traffic and worked by the State subject to the following conditions
  - (a) that such telegraph wires and apparatus as are supplied to and maintained in the State by the Indian Posts and Telegraphs Department will be supplied and maintained on the same terms as may from time to time be in force in the case of telegraph wires and apparatus supplied to and maintained by the Indian Posts and Telegraphs Department for Government railways
  - (b) that the State works the offices in strict accordance with the rules from time to time authorised for the working of Licensed Telegraph Systems in British India. Provided that where such a railway lies exclusively within the territories of an Indian State a telegraph system constructed along such railway and not connected with any Imperial office is not affected by the provisions of this sub clause.

vii) The States recognise that on the occurrence of a grave public emergency, or in the interests of the public safety, the Governor-General in Council may, as a temporary measure and subject to reasonable provision being made for State business—

(a) take control of any telegraph systems or part of any telegraph systems to which these principles apply, or

(b) direct that any messages or class of messages to or from any persons or class of persons, or relating to any particular subject brought for transmission by, or transmitted, or received by, any telegraph shall not be transmitted or shall be intercepted or detained, or shall be disclosed to the Government or an officer thereof mentioned in the order. The powers of the Governor-General in Council may be exercised by the Governors of Provinces in regard to State which are in political relations with them.

If any doubt arises as to the existence of a grave public emergency or whether any act done under (a) and (b) above was in the interest of the public safety, a certificate signed by the Political Secretary to the Government of India or a Secretary to a Local Government, as the case may be, will be conclusive proof on the point.

II. Whenever it is proposed by the Indian Posts and Telegraphs Department to establish a new Imperial telegraph office in an Indian State, the Postmaster-General should advise the Political Officer concerned direct in order to ascertain the views of the State on the project. In the event of a State disagreeing with a proposal the views of the State will be forwarded to the Foreign and Imperial Department of the Government of India and the project will not be proceeded upon for technical or other reasons unless it is of nationally important character. When the project is of national importance and the office is established, the Government of India will be notified.

the Political Officer will address the Postmaster-General. The establishment of a new Imperial office in an Indian State with the consent of the State will not require a previous reference to the Government of India.

III. Inland telegrams sent over the Imperial Telegraph and Licensed Telegraph Systems on official business of Indian States will be accepted and transmitted throughout India as Raj telegrams, but, as in the case of Inland State messages as defined in the Indian Post and Telegraph Guide, they will not be allowed priority over private messages of the same class. The charges must be paid for in Service stamps or in cash or on the deposit account system, as laid down in the Rules in the Post and Telegraph Guide.

IV. All Raj telegrams, to whomsoever addressed, and all private telegrams addressed to Rulers or officials of Indian States by official designation only, will be redirected to any part of India by telegraph free of charge according to the provisions of the Indian Post and Telegraph Guide.

V. Telegraphic abbreviated addresses for Ruling Princes and officials of Indian States will, if required, be sent without registration fee. . . . . addressed . . . . . telegrams, Traffic Branch, Calcutta.

VI. (i) Ruling Princes who are members of the Chamber of Princes in their own right and their ministers have the privilege of sending Clear the Line messages between telegraph offices within their own territories.

(ii) Ruling Princes who are members of the Chamber of Princes in their own right have the privilege of sending Clear the Line messages to addressees outside their State territories, subject to the following conditions —

(a) that the privilege is exercised only on the emergency ;

(b) that it is personal to the Ruler himself ;

Pages 24-25 —The following shall be substituted for paragraph 24 —

24 Establishment, maintenance and working of wireless telegraphs and wire

I Wireless stations whether owned by a State or licensed by a State, required solely for communication within a State —It is essential, with a view to maintain co ordination and to avoid mutual interference that there should be previous points —

- (a) the general purpose for which the station is required (e g , whether it is required for public or private communications, for experimental or instructional purposes, and whether it is to be fixed or portable, permanent or temporary),
- (b) the distance over which communication is desired,
- (c) in the case of a fixed station, the approximate location, i e , town, village, etc

II Wireless stations, whether owned by a State or licensed by a State, required for communication with a station in British India —Such stations can only be erected and worked under special arrangements with the Government of India and the conditions (e g , in regard to times of working, traffic and rates) will be regulated according to the circumstances of each case

III Wireless stations, whether owned by a State or licensed by a State, required for communication with a station in another State —Such stations can only be erected and worked under mutual arrangements effected between the States concerned through the Government of India

IV. The following are the conditions generally applicable to all wireless stations in British India and in Indian States —

- (a) Qualified operators should be employed whenever a transmitting set is operated, except in the case of a wireless telephone set of 30

hand, too powerful a station might be erected involving unnecessary expenditure and probably causing undesirable interference with other stations

The Indian States will have full scope for choice as regards the type of installations. In respect of wave lengths and the extent of the power of the sets employed their wishes will be met as far as possible,

- watts or less power. A qualified operator must be in possession of a certificate granted by the Director General of Postal Telegraphs, India, or by the competent certifying authority in the United Kingdom or in any British possession or protectorate.*
- (b) Call-signs and wave-lengths are allotted only by the Government of India and it is essential that they should be adhered to.
  - (c) It is essential in the interests of wireless communication generally that the States should agree to observe signals of control (e.g., "suspension of working temporarily", "adjustment of wave and power," etc.), when made by Indian Government Stations. Such signals will only be made on the authority of the Director of Wireless.
  - (d) The power employed in a wireless station in an Indian State should be limited to that required adequately to provide the communication intended from time to time.
  - (e) In the case of public emergency (see Appendix, Note 2) it is necessary for the British Government and the States to work in close co-operation, and the Imperial Government feel confident that they may rely on the Indian States to co-operate with them.

V. Since the responsibility will rest with the States for the working of wireless telegraphs and telephones within their territories, whether worked by the States or under licenses granted by the States, it is desirable that the purely technical terms of the licenses granted by the States should be similar to the terms of the licenses granted in British India.

APPENDIX

NOTE 1 —The obligations laid on the Government of India by the International Radio telegraph Convention, which are equally binding both in normal times and emergencies, include control of—

- (a) type of apparatus,
- (b) power to be used,
- (c) characteristics of wave emitted,
- (d) waves to be used,
- (e) interference,
- (f) standards of qualification of operators,
- (g) operating procedure

NOTE II —There are strong technical reasons for requiring a stricter degree of control in time of grave public emergency, viz :—

- (a) A station might be required as a linking Station between two Stations in British India separated by the State in question and normally out of range of each other
- (b) It might be desirable to organise the Stations of separate but adjacent States or the Stations of one State into a group to provide telegraph facilities for the Government of India
- (c) The control of traffic might be desirable so as to obtain some of the benefits of (a) and (b) without actually working the Stations
- (d) " " " " " " " " " " " "

might not have foreseen

- (e) If a State in which there is unrest desires communication with a Station in British India it may be advantageous to the State to ask the Government of India for assistance in operating the State Station

- (b) In case of applications to import parts, etc—The Director General, Posts and Telegraphs' license to import will be forwarded to the State concerned through the Foreign and Political Department

(2) Conditions governing the erection and working of sets in Indian States —

- (a) They must be worked by competent operators* under control of the State
- (b) They must use wave lengths of 400 or 800 metres only, according to the suitability of the sets
- (c) The State should furnish information in advance of the description and location of each set and the probable date of opening (whether for tests or communications), in order that appropriate call-signs may be allotted
- (d) The present permission is subject to modification if it is found that the sets interfere with Government communications and when the whole question of radio in the States is settled

25 I The Indian States are entitled to set up and maintain telephone systems, to open them to the public and work them for gain, or to grant licences to private companies and persons for the same, provided that —

4 Restricted permission is particularly contemplated for Decoration

5 Both in the case of full and of restricted permission the matter will be submitted to the King by His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs who shall be under no obligation to consider applications for permission unless the desire of the Head of a Foreign State to confer upon a British subject the Insignia of an Order is notified to him before the Order is conferred either through the British Diplomatic Representative accredited to the Head of the Foreign State or through the Diplomatic Representative of the latter at the Court of St James

6 When His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs shall have taken the King's pleasure on any such application and shall have obtained His Majesty's permission for the person in whose favour it has been made to wear the Insignia of a Foreign Order he shall signify the same to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department in order that he may cause a Warrant if it be a case for the issue of a Warrant as defined in Rule 2 to be prepared for the Royal Sign Manual

When such Warrant shall have been signed by the King a notification thereof shall be inserted in the 'Gazette'

7 The Warrant signifying His Majesty's permission may at the request and at the expense of the person who has obtained it be registered in the College of Arms Every such Warrant as aforesaid shall contain a clause providing that His Majesty's licence and permission does not authorise the assumption of any style appellation rank precedence or privilege appertaining to a Knight Bachelor of His Majesty's Realms

26 Regulations respecting Foreign Orders and Medals applicable to Persons in the Service of the Crown

Orders

1 IT is the King's wish that no subject of His Majesty in the Service of the Crown shall accept and wear the Insignia of any Foreign Order without having previously obtained His Majesty's permission to do so signified either

(a) By Warrant under the Royal Sign Manual or

(b) By restricted permission conveyed through the Keeper of His Majesty's Privy Purse

2 When permission is given by Warrant under the Royal Sign Manual the Insignia of the Foreign Order may be worn at all times without any restriction

when in the public interest it is deemed expedient that they should be accepted

5 Restricted permission will generally be given for Decorations conferred in the following cases but as indicated in the preceding paragraph will not necessarily be limited to these cases —

(1) On British Ambassadors or Ministers abroad when the King pays a State visit to the country to which they are accredited

(Note—A State visit is defined as one on which the King is accompanied by a Minister or High Official in attendance)

(2) On Members of Deputations of British Regiments to Foreign Heads of States

(3) On Members of Special Missions when the King is represented at a Foreign Coronation Wedding Funeral or similar occasion or on any Diplomatic Representative when specially accredited to represent His Majesty on such occasions

Restricted permission will not be given to—
(a) British Ambassadors or Ministers abroad

Secretary of State for the Home Department a stamp duty of 10s.

7. The Warrant signifying His Majesty's permission may, at the request and at the expense of the person who has obtained it, be registered in the College of Arms. Every such Warrant as aforesaid shall contain a clause providing that His Majesty's licence and permission does not authorise the assumption of any style, appellation, rank, precedence, or privilege appertaining to a Knight Bachelor of His Majesty's Realms.

8. When a British subject has received the Royal permission, full or restricted, to accept and wear the Decoration of a Foreign Order, he will not be allowed to accept the Decoration of a higher class of the same Order without His Majesty's approval. His Majesty will in such cases grant permission only if the promotion in the Order is conferred for his services which come within these Regulations.

9. These Regulations apply only to Orders of Chivalry. Decorations conferred by Private Societies and Decorations of a purely academic nature, and all Decorations not being Orders of Chivalry, may be accepted without His Majesty's permission, but must not be worn.

Exception is made in the case of a few Foreign Orders, which, though not in strictness Orders of Chivalry, yet are of such a high distinction that, for the purpose of these Regulations, they are to be considered and treated as Orders of Chivalry.

Medals.

10. Medals, with the exceptions specified below, are subject to the Regulations in the same manner as Orders, but permission to wear is given by letters and not by Royal Warrant. No permission is needed to accept a Foreign Medal if it is not to be worn.

11. Medals for saving or attempting to save life at sea or on land conferred on behalf of the British Government of a Foreign State, may be accepted and worn without His Majesty's special permission.

12. In the case of Medals for Red Cross services permission will only be granted in the conditions laid down in Rule 3, paragraph 3 above.

13. Applications, for His Majesty's permission to wear Medals conferred by Private Societies or Institutions and Commemorative Medals cannot be entertained.

14. His Majesty will not grant permission to wear any Foreign War Medal if the person on whom it is to be or has been conferred was during the war acting in contravention of the Foreign Enlistment Act.

15. Ladies are subject to the Regulations in all respects in the same manner as men.

28. The War Office Army List and the Admiralty Navy List will in future contain only the names of officers who have received full permission, as notified in the London Gazette, to wear the decorations on all occasions. This rule will apply in the case of Civil Officers also, and no official list published in India should show any Civil Officers as entitled to wear a Foreign Order unless the conditions stated above have been fulfilled. In every case where full permission has not been gazetted it is intended that officers shall receive restricted permission to wear their decorations.

29. In accordance with His Majesty's command all Insignia and Grants should be delivered personally to recipients of Decorations by a senior officer in an official and ceremonial manner. The presentation should, whenever possible, be made by

The titles of Shams ul Ulama, Mahamahopadhyaya, Aggamaha pandita and Hazik ul Mulk are regarded as equal in rank.

4. Recommendations for the grant of the higher titles, i.e., those of Maharajadhiraja, Maharaja, Maharajprasad, Maharaja, Maharani, Nawab Bahadur, Raja Bahadur, Nawab, Raja Begum, and Rani must be submitted separately, in the attached form for higher title, with a full statement of the grounds on which each recommendation is made; they should not be included in the general list of recommendations for the grant of Indian titles. As these high titles are given very sparingly for exceptionally meritorious service and only to persons of good family who are in a position suitably to maintain them, the following qualifications are regarded as essential:

(a) the possession of considerable landed property;

(b) unimpeachable fidelity to Government; and

(c) respectable private character.

5. In connection with recommendation for the higher title specified in rule 4, the estimated annual income of the person recommended should be stated. Where possible it is desirable that references to gazetters, etc., showing the nature of the family, should be given.

6. When recommendations are made for hereditary titles, it should be reported whether the title of senior and heir-apparent in the family is held, to ensure an adequate endowment of the title, it should also be stated how many sons the person recommended has.

7. As a rule recommendations should be made in the first instance for the titles of Sardar Sahib, Khan Sahib, Rai Sahib and Rao Sahib, for in cases of mutual exclusion or where there is any doubt it would be inappropriate on account of the relative status of the recipient, recommendations should be made for the grant of the title of Bahadur, Maharaja Bahadur, Khan Bahadur, Rai Bahadur and Rao Bahadur, in the first instance. Recommendations should, however, be made accompanied with an explanation of the reasons why the former lower title is considered inadequate.

In submitting recommendations for the titles of Sardar Sahib, Khan Sahib, Rai Sahib and Rao Sahib, it should normally be maintained.

8 In the case of a recipient of a lower title being recommended for a higher title the date on which the lower title was granted must always be stated

9 In order to safeguard the prestige of Indian titles the social status of persons recommended and the nature of the services rendered by them should always be taken into consideration

This applies with special force to the Bahadur titles, particularly Diwan Bahadur and Sardar Bahadur. The title of Sardar Bahadur, it will be remembered is one which is given to members of the Order of British India 1st Class a fact which makes it important to maintain its reputation

Persons engaged in purely clerical work on salaries of less than Rs 250 per month should not be recommended except in very special circumstances and in all cases where persons holding clerical appointments are recommended for Indian titles the salary attached to such appointments should always be stated in the recommendation

10 The names titles and designations of the persons recommended, and in the case of officials, the branch of the service to which they belong and the offices which they hold, if these are to be gazetted must be stated in the exact form in which they are intended to appear in the Gazette of India, and in the sanads which are granted to the title holders

These details should be given in the column headed "Name and designation of person recommended" The father's name (unless it is a part of the name as in the case of some Persian and Sindhi names) should not be stated in this column

The prefix 'Doctor' should not be used unless the person concerned actually holds the Degree of Doctor of a recognized University.

11 A specific title must always be proposed.

12 There is ordinarily no objection to the renewal of previous recommendations, and it should be borne in mind that previous recommendations are not considered unless expressly renewed in the event of the renewal of a previous the date on which such a recommendation was made must always be given.

Of. For. and Pol.
Dept. Cir. endorsement No. 317-I.C., dated the 29th January 1918.

13. In order to lessen the possibility of title being refused after conferment, discreet enquiries should be made beforehand, in doubtful cases, as to the willingness of the individual concerned to accept a mark of favour from Government.

14. The Province or State of which the person recommended is a native must be mentioned.

Of. For. and Pol.
Dept. Cir., dated the 6th September 1915.

15. Whenever it is proposed to recommend a person for the grant of a title for work performed outside his own Province, the Head of the Province to which he belongs should be consulted before any recommendation is submitted.

The Head of the Province thus consulted is at liberty to express an opinion freely on the merit of the recommendation, and his opinion should invariably be entered by the recommending authority at the end of the column headed "Grounds of recommendation as stated by the local authority."

Of. For. Dept.
Cir., dated the 12th March 1908.

16. Before any subject or official of a Ruler is recommended for an Indian title, the wishes of the Ruling Prince or Chief should, as a rule, be ascertained informally and privately before in any particular case special reasons exist to the contrary. It is especially desirable that this procedure should be followed when the title which it is proposed to grant would confer upon the recipient any apparent official rank in the State.

17. Recommendations for the grant of Literary and Medical titles should be submitted in duplicate in the attached form for lower titles.

For. Dept. Circular
No. 1859-I. B., dated the 23rd July 1912.

18. The titles of Sham-ul-Uloom and Mahamahopadhyaya are conferred upon holders of eminent distinction in the traditional learning, though those who have qualified both in that as well as frequently in modern learning would also be suitable recipients. Recommendations for the grant of such titles should be accompanied by such other statements as may be required.

(2) It must be clearly stated whether the candidate is a subject of the Government or a native of the State.

one case in Arabic, or in Avesta and Pahlvi, in the other in Sanskrit of a profundity and a width which entitle him to peculiar respect

- (b) It is necessary that ample proof be given that the proposed recipient is not merely a man of learning but that he also makes, or has made, use of his learning either by active participation in educational or research work by meritorious authorship (the nature and titles of the publications being specified) or by some similar means
- (c) It will be regarded as an additional recommendation (but not in itself a complete recommendation) if the proposed recipient is a person whose learning has earned for him a position of eminence and reputation in any part of the country
- (d) While it is undesirable to consult private bodies or persons regarding the conferment of such titles, it will nevertheless be regarded as a strong recommendation, if indisputable authority of recognised scholars can be quoted in proof of the learning and scholarship of the proposed recipient

It will be taken as a general rule that neither of these titles will be conferred upon any person who can not be shown to possess the qualifications described under (a) and (b) above and qualifications (c) and (d) will be considered as auxiliary. The above information should be supplied in considerable detail with each recommendation

A Royal salute should not be fired at these ceremonies except on the following occasions:—

(1) When the Viceroy is present in person and then only on the arrival and departure of

His Excellency as the salute to which the Viceroy is entitled,

- (2) When, in the absence of the Viceroy, a khariṭa from His Excellency to the Ruling Prince or Chief is produced at the Durbar.

(b) When the Viceroy is staying at a Government House, and the occasion is in the nature of a State banquet, the Viceroy should propose the King's health ; on other occasions the Head of the Local Government should propose it ;

it was laid down that when, without giving offence, it is possible in arranging the ceremonial reception (peshwai) of a Ruling Prince or Chief to dispense with the attendance of officers in military employ, this should be done, a suitable explanation being offered to the Ruling Prince or Chief, if necessary. When offence would be given if officers in military employ did not attend, practice should follow precedents for the lifetime of the Prince or Chief then ruling, and the matter should be reported for orders on the occasion of the next succession. In no case should the Commanding Officer be requested to go beyond the limits of the Cantonment to meet the Ruling Prince or Chief, unless indeed the cantonment Railway Station happens to be outside those limits ; nor should the Commanding Officer be asked to go at all unless the hour appointed for the Ruling Prince's or Chief's arrival is a reasonably convenient one.

The Government of India attach importance to the maintenance of ceremonial in accordance with ancient customs and to strict adherence to etiquette on ceremonial occasions. The following general principles have been laid down :—

Cf. letters to Agents to the Governor-General in Rajputana and Central India, with endt. to Local Governments, etc., Nos. 743—745-I.B., dated 21st April 1910.

- (1) In all cases the practice which governs the exchange of first calls between Princes and Chiefs and Political Officers should be recorded in detail and should be invariably followed in future in that State.
- (2) Great care should be taken not to permit any new customs to grow up during a minority.
- (3) It is desirable to rehearse the proceedings beforehand when occasions of important ceremonial arise.
- (4) Decisions should be made on the merits of each case with reference to the custom of the particular State; reliance should not be placed on comparisons with the procedure followed in other States.
- (5) In all cases the questions in issue should be fully and frankly talked over with the Durbar.

Tours and Visits of Ruling Princes and Chiefs.

Foreign and Political Department
Resolution No. 587-
R., dated the 29th
August 1921.

38. With the approval of His Majesty's Secretary of State, and in supersession of all previous instructions on the subject, the following procedure has been laid down by the Government of India in regard to tours and visits abroad of Ruling Princes and Chiefs :—

- (1) The Government of India would be glad if Rulers of States, who wish to travel abroad, would inform them of the period for which they will be absent from India, and of the arrangements which they propose for the administration of their States during this period.
- (2) In the case of Rulers enjoying salutes of 11 guns or upwards, the Government of India will endeavour to obtain the privileges of such customs facilities as the authorities in England and in British possessions, Colonies and Dominions may be prepared to grant them as a matter of courtesy from time to time. Attempts will also be made to secure a similar privilege in foreign countries where the foreign power concerned is willing to grant it.
- (3) The Government of India will not, however, be in a position to move in the matter unless detailed information in regard to the Ruler's journey is supplied to them in sufficient time prior to his departure to comply with the formalities necessary in these cases. As regards travel in foreign countries, changes of plans at short notice, place His Majesty's Embassies in embarrassing positions, and it is essential that changes in dates and routes originally supplied should be communicated to the Political Aide-de-Camp at the India Office at least 10 days before the visit to the place where such facilities are desired.

- (4) When a Ruling Prince or Chief or his heir, or any noble of a state for whom a Ruler desires assistance, proposes to travel to the Government of India desire of places where frontiers will be crossed and date of proposed arrival at these points.

- (d) The permanent address of the Ruler or other persons to which communications can be forwarded.

(Foreign and Political Department letter to the Government of Bombay No F 27 I/31, dated the 28th April 1931.)

— — — — — SUBMIT IN VOUCHES TO THE Political Secretary a programme of his arrangements, with a rough estimate of probable expenses to be disbursed by or through him, and he shall from time to time report any alterations he may make in his programme

He shall, unless otherwise directed in writing, once a month, or, if the visit lasts less than a month, at the close of his visit, submit to the Political Secretary at the India Office for examination accounts of all expenditure incurred by or through him in connection with his deputation, furnishing vouchers wherever possible

Arrangements for the accommodation of the Ruling Prince or Chief or of the Political Officer in attendance, or of both, may be undertaken by the India Office, should the Secretary of State consider this course to be desirable

Where the Political Officer is obliged by his duties to obtain hotel accommodation and maintenance for himself, or to reside in a more expensive neighbourhood than he would on his own account choose, he shall, in ordinary cases, receive, in addition to the travelling expenses incurred by him in connection with his duty, a subsistence allowance for such period as he shall have so resided in the performance of his duties. The amount of the allowance shall be such as the Secretary of State shall prescribe

It is to be understood that, unless specially authorised, an officer on duty with a Ruling Prince or Chief will not be allowed to have a carriage or horses kept, at the cost of the said Ruling Prince or Chief, exclusively for his own use, and will be expected only to make use of the carriage provided for the Ruling Prince or Chief when on business connected with him.

Duty in attendance upon a Ruling Prince or Chief out of India does not qualify for leave except with the special sanction of His Majesty's Secretary of State for India in Council.

The Political Officer or the guardian in charge of a young Prince or Chief while in Europe for educational or similar purposes is responsible to the Secretary of State alone as regards all matters connected with his management, and must submit to the Secretary of State through the Political Aide-de-Camp all proposals requiring the sanction of higher authority and keep him fully and punctually informed through the same channel of all arrangements contemplated. Any correspondence of the Political Officer or guardian with the Resident or the Agent to the Governor General on matters of principle or importance affecting the Prince's or Chief's education, or the arrangements to be made for his comfort, in Europe, should be sent under flying seal to the Political Department of the India Office.

Cf. Foreign and Political Department Resolution No. 62-R., dated the 14th January 1921.

41. (1) Private visits.—In the case of private visits of Ruling Princes and Chiefs to places other than hill stations or Delhi. British India, other than hill stations, the Government of India hope that as a matter of courtesy the Ruling Princes and Chiefs will give previous notice of intended visits through their Political Officer to the Local Government or Administration concerned. If no intimation is given, it will be understood that the Ruling Prince or Chief desires to remain incognito.

(2) Formal visits.—In the case of all formal visits, where ceremonial is involved, the Government of India consider it desirable that at least a week's previous notice should be given to the Local Government or Administration, to whose jurisdiction it is proposed to pay the visit.

42 (1) Hill Stations other than Simla—In view of the shortage of accommodation at the hill stations mentioned below, the Government of India consider it essential that visits to these stations should be arranged in prior consultation with the Local Governments in whose jurisdiction these stations are situated. Sufficient previous notice should be given to the Local Government concerned which should not ordinarily be less than 15 days from the receipt by the latter of intimation of a desire to visit the station by the Prince or Chief concerned. The stations concerned are —

| (7) Bombay            | Mahabaleshwar and Matheran                |

Such prior consultation may be dispensed with in any case in which a Ruling Prince or Chief is the owner of a house or houses in the hill station but even in this case as a matter of convenience and courtesy prior intimation of such visits is desirable

(2) Visits to Simla.—Special considerations operate in the case of visits to Simla and the previous consent of the Government of India should be obtained when a Ruling Prince or Chief wishes to visit Simla. The Government of India desire to receive the earliest possible intimation of such visits and in addition to be supplied with information regarding the object and approximate duration of the visit, the place of residence, the names of any near relatives (other than ladies) or of high officials of the State accompanying the Ruler and the number of the retinue.

This procedure does not apply to the Rulers of the Simla Hill States in Political relation with the Superintendent, Simla Hill States, and to H. H. the Raja of Bilaspur.

43. In the case of Delhi special considerations make it desirable that the Government of India should receive early intimation of the proposed visit of any Ruling Prince or Chief to Delhi, while the Government of India are in residence there, even though the visit may be private and the Ruler may not propose to ask for an interview with His Excellency the Viceroy.

44. (a) The Government of India trust that Ruling Princes and Chiefs visiting places in British India will observe the following conditions :—

General matters applicable to all visits.

- (1) That the Ruler will enforce on his entourage respect for municipal regulations.
- (2) That the number of followers accompanying the Ruler, when in residence, will be reasonable and not in excess of that for which the local authority considers that accommodation is available.
- (3) That on the occasions of the Ruler's visits he will depute an officer on his behalf to consult the local Sanitary or Health authority as regards sanitary requirements and carry out his advice in the matter

(b) The above does not relate to hill stations not now existing but which may be established hereafter in the jurisdiction of Local Governments. The local circumstances of such hill stations will require special examination in each case, and special directions regarding them will be issued, in those cases, where after consultation with the Local Government it appears necessary to the Government of India to do so.

stations in British India for their own convenience or pleasure, it is not the practice to grant exemption from liability to pay Municipal rates and taxes. But exemption is made when Ruling Princes and Chiefs travel through British territory or visit stations for reason of ceremony or business and when they are invited by the Viceroy or Governor of a Presidency. In the latter cases arrangement may be made either for exemption from liability, or for payment on behalf of the Ruling Prince or Chief, of dues incurred.

48. Political Officers are prohibited from issuing licenses in Form XX of the forms prescribed by the Indian Arms

Rules, 1924, covering more than 30 armed retainers without previous reference to the Local Government of the Province in which the licensee proposes to travel. In the event of a Local Government dissenting from the recommendation of a Political Officer not serving directly under their orders, it would still be open to the latter for sufficient reason to refer the matter for the consideration of the Government of India. But armed retainers should be discouraged as much as possible.

49. It is the practice in certain cases for Ruling Princes and Chiefs when residing in British India to mount reasonable guard of their own troops over their private houses. In the case of a cantonment the Political Officer should arrange that timely notice should be given to the Officer Commanding the station of the strength of the guard and the probable date of its arrival.

CHAPTER VI,

Successions, and Miscellaneous matters affecting Indian States.

50 Every succession to an Indian State holding direct relations with the British Government must be recognised by, or on behalf of, the British Government, and no succession is valid until recognition has been given

C/ Telegram to the Secy of State No 27 N E, dated the 5th June 1891, published with For Dept Notn. No 1701 E dated 21st Aug 1891

In the case of Bombay States of the third class and lower, and elsewhere in the case of Chiefships not entitled to a salute, the power to recognise succession has been delegated to Local Governments and Administrations. In all other cases the sanction of the Government of India is required

Letter to Bombay Govt No 3344 I, dated 22nd Aug 1889 No 631 I A dated 16-2-07

51 Where there is a natural heir in the direct line, he succeeds as a matter of course and the recognition of his succession by His Majesty the King Emperor will be conveyed by an exchange of kharitas of a complimentary character between the new Prince or Chief and the Viceroy or other high authority concerned. The kharita from the Viceroy (or head of the Local Government as the case may be) will be presented to the new Prince or Chief by a representative of the British Government at a formal visit

For & Pol Deptt. Memo No 264 I A (s) dated the 18th Decr 1917

2 In the case of successions other than those of the direct natural heir, the announcement or recognition and confirmation will be made by a representative of the British Government either at a Darbar held for the purpose or, if this is the custom of the State, at a formal visit to the Prince or Chief

3 It is desirable that the local and religious ceremonies of Installation should in the case of disputed successions, be deferred until the orders of Government on the question of succession have been obtained. The performance of such ceremonies can in no case affect the prerogative of the Paramount Power in dealing with disputed successions

4. The Darbar referred to in paragraph 2 will be considered as held by the Prince or Chief, the Representative of the British Government sitting at his right hand.

5. Owing to the diversity of local customs, no definite instructions can be formulated regarding the procedure to be followed at such Darbars, but where a Darbar is held the main outlines are as follows :—

- (a) The Representative of the British Government formally announces the recognition of the succession on behalf of the King-Emperor and presents the kharita, if there be one, from His Excellency the Viceroy or the Head of the Local Government or Administration.
- (b) He also conducts the Prince or Chief to the gadi or masnad, if this is in accordance with the custom of the State.
- (c) In cases where it is customary, he fastens on a sirpech or sword or both and places a necklace round the neck of the Prince or Chief. Sometimes he also attires the Prince or Chief with a robe.
- (d) A khilat is presented in cases where it is customary and peshkash is received in return.

6. The installation of a Prince or Chief, who is of full age carries with it proprio vigore his investiture with ruling powers, unless Government see fit to restrict by special order the exercise of such powers. Government will decide in each case when a Prince or Chief is to be regarded as having attained full age.

7. If a Prince or Chief is a minor at the time of his Installation, the termination of his minority and his investiture with ruling powers, when approved, will be announced by a Representative of the British Government at an Investiture Darbar, which will be regarded as held by the Prince or Chief, the British Representative sitting at his right hand. The ceremonies will include the reading by the British Representative of the kharita, if there be one, from the Viceroy or other high authority and its presentation to the Prince or Chief It is not desirable to repeat at the Investiture Darbar the ceremonies mentioned in paragraph 5 (b), (c) and (d) above

■ Lesser details of procedure must be settled in each case, whether of Installation or Investiture, with regard to precedent and local custom and feeling, reference being made to the Government of India on any doubtful point

9 The above instructions apply primarily to States having a salute of guns In other cases it is left to Local Governments and Administrations to decide, with due regard to existing practice how far the instructions should be considered applicable

52 The Government of India have for some time past devoted special consideration to the question of the principles which should be observed in connection with the administration of an Indian State during a minority The opinion of certain Ruling Princes and Chiefs and of Political Officers were obtained by the Government of India during Lord Hardinge's Viceroyalty and the question in some of its aspects came under discussion at the Conference of Ruling Princes and Chiefs recently held at Delhi The Governor General in Council after full consideration of the views elicited, has with the approval of the Secretary of State, decided that the policy of Government in the matter may appropriately be stated as follows —

Minority Administration in Indian State

be observed in connection with the administration of an Indian State during a minority The opinion of certain Ruling Princes and Chiefs and of Political Officers were obtained by the Government of India during Lord Hardinge's Viceroyalty and the question in some of its aspects came under discussion at the Conference of Ruling Princes and Chiefs recently held at Delhi The Governor General in Council after full consideration of the views elicited, has with the approval of the Secretary of State, decided that the policy of Government in the matter may appropriately be stated as follows —

The Government of India recognise that they are the trustees and custodians of the rights interests and traditions of Indian States during a minority administration Their general policy is laid down in the following extract from certain orders, which were issued some years ago for the guidance of Political Officers —

“ The Governor General in Council is opposed to anything like pressure on Darbars to introduce British methods of administration He prefers that reforms should emanate from the Darbar, and grow up in harmony with the traditions of the State. Administrative efficiency is at no time the only or indeed the chief object to be kept in view. This should specially be borne in mind by officers charged temporarily with the administration of a State during a minority, whether they are in sole charge, or associated with a State Council. They occupy a position of peculiar trust, and should never forget that their primary duty is the conservation of the customs of the State. Abuses and corruption should be corrected as far as possible, but the general system of administration to which the Chief and the people have become accustomed should be unchanged in all essentials. The methods sanctioned by tradition in States are generally well adapted to the needs and relations of the Ruler and people. The loyalty of the latter to the former is generally a personal loyalty, which administrative efficiency, if carried out on lines unsuited to local conditions, would lessen or impair."

The Government of India realise that the special conditions of each State require special treatment and will be glad to receive and consider requests by individual Princes or Chiefs regarding any principles which they may wish to be adopted in the case of their own States or families. Due weight will be attached to wishes so expressed or to any written or verbal instructions left on record, but the Government of India on whom the final responsibility rests must reserve to themselves full freedom of action in dealing with such requests or instructions. Subject to the foregoing observations, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to lay down the following general principles for the conduct of minority administrations. The announcement is subject to the reservation that the principles laid down will be liable to relaxation in individual cases where special conditions may render their strict application inappropriate —

Principles to be observed during minority administrations

(1) The administration of a State during a minority should ordinarily be entrusted to a Council. In cases where the appointment of a Regent is in accordance with the custom of the State and a suitable person is available for nomination as Regent the Council should be styled a "Council of Regency" and should consist of three to five Indian Members under the presidency of the Regent. The Regent may be either a legitimate mother or widow or a near male relative of the late Ruler, provided that the latter was in the full confidence of the late Ruler at the time of his demise. Where no Regent is available the Council should be styled a "Council of Administration" and should consist of three to five Indian Members presided over by an Indian administrator of proved experience of Indian States.

In the selection of the Councillors local talent should be utilised to the utmost possible extent—preference being always given to persons with vested interests in the State so long as they possess the requisite qualifications.

Where local conditions appear to render it impossible for a Council to administer the State successfully, an officer borrowed from Government service may be appointed as Superintendent or Administrator of the State.

Where expressly desired by the late Ruler the minority administration should in important matters consult with Ruling Princes or Chiefs nominated by him for this purpose.

(2) Old traditions and customs of the State should be scrupulously observed and maintained.

[The word "customs" includes, among other things—

(a) the payment to the minor Prince or Chief and to members of his family

- on all occasions, of due consideration by all officers serving in the State ;
- (b) the maintenance of the dignity of the minor Prince or Chief by the strict observance of the customary ceremonial honours and courtesies due to him by officers of the Imperial Government and by other Rulers ; and
  - (c) the performance on due date of religious ceremonies, festivals, and social observances, including the exchange of presents with other States.]

(3) The regulations and records embodying the established policy of the State should be carefully studied. Except in the case of obvious and unmistakable abuses, radical changes (such as important constitutional reforms, alteration of the Court language or of the postal, taxation, or currency systems, &c.) should, as a general rule, be avoided. Any new measures adopted should, so far as circumstances permit, be grafted on and assimilated to existing institutions in the State, and should be so designed, introduced and carried into effect, that they can be continued by the regular administration after termination of the minority. Where any radical change, or any important measure which is contrary to the express wishes or policy of the late Ruler is proposed, the matter should be referred with full particulars to the Government of India for decision.

(4) For appointments in the State service local talent should be used wherever possible. Where local talent is not available, outsiders may be imported for special purposes, but these should be strictly required to conform to local conditions and customs and to show due respect to the members of the ruling family. When the services of outsiders are engaged, their deputation should ordinarily be liable to termination at the discretion of the Ruler after he receives his powers. Persons who are known to have been disloyal or obnoxious to the late Ruler or his family should not be appointed to State service during a minority.

(5) Treaty rights should be strictly upheld and measures involving any modification of existing treaties and engagements should be avoided. No alteration should be made affecting the recognized political status of fields under the suzerainty of a Darbar or their customary relations with the Ruler and his State.

(6) No jagirs or hereditary or personal honours and distinctions should be granted or promised on behalf of the State during the minority, nor should such jagirs, honours, etc. be confiscated except for disloyalty or gross misconduct. Customary jagirs and maintenance allowances granted by the late Ruler to members of the Ruling family and others should ordinarily be maintained, and no increase or decrease or new grant should be allowed except for special reasons and with the sanction of the Government of India or other political authority to whom this power may be delegated, such sanction would apply only to the period of the minority.

(7) Interference with the private property, estates, or establishments of members of the Ruling family should be avoided, and the customary and reasonable presents, easements, etc., to them and their dependents, should not ordinarily be curtailed.

(8) In States where a distinction is made between State and Privy Purse funds, the fixed Privy Purse allowance, if on a reasonable scale, should be paid by the State without reduction to the minor Ruler and kept in trust for him, together with the private property bequeathed to him by the late Ruler, until he attains majority. Expenditure from Privy Purse funds should be limited to the usual and customary items of expenditure.

(9) The sale of State jewellery during a minority should ordinarily be avoided. If such is found absolutely necessary to meet debts, great care should be taken in the selection of the articles to be sold, and the wishes of members of the Ruler's family should be consulted and respected.

Proposals for such sales should be referred to Government and their sanction obtained before the proposal is carried out.

(10) No State territory or other immovable property should be exchanged, ceded, or sold during a minority.

(11) No permanent rights or privileges should be granted by the minority administration to jagirdars, officials or subjects of the State.

(12) No permanent or long-term commercial concessions or monopolies should ordinarily be granted to individuals or companies. It should, however, be borne in mind that neither individuals nor companies would be willing to sink any considerable capital sum in undertakings for short periods, and in each case, therefore, the rule must be applied cautiously with regard to the best interests of the State concerned, in order that the development of important and valuable industries may not be hindered.

(13) Expenditure on new palaces intended for a Ruler's own use should be avoided. Outlay on public works generally should be undertaken with due regard to economy and limited to necessary works. The expenditure should be so regulated as to come within the ordinary income of the year and to leave a substantial annual balance. Expenditure from surplus and reserve funds should be limited to really productive or protective works and should not be undertaken without careful examination and expert advice.

(14) Communication with the ladies of the palace should be conducted according to the custom of the State. Palace arrangements existing in the time of the late Ruler should not ordinarily be altered, and nothing should be done contrary to zenana etiquette and custom.

(15) The education and training of the young Ruler should be conducted

Vide Appendix attached. on the lines laid down in the report* of the Committee convened to consider the matter As a general rule it is preferable that he should receive his education in India rather than in Europe

(16) Care should be taken to maintain shooting preserves and the necessary establishment for their maintenance, where such exists Shooting rules and restrictions observed in the time of the late Ruler should be strictly enforced

(17) The Political Officer is answerable to the Government of India for the maintenance of these principles The degree of supervision to be exercised by him will depend on the circumstances of each particular case

APPENDIX TO PARAGRAPH 52

Report of the Committee convened to consider the question of the education and training of Minor Rulers

For purposes of this discussion we have assumed that ruling powers will ordinarily be assumed by the Minor Ruler at the age of 18 years

2 As a diversity of opinion exists as to the desirability of the Minor Prince receiving any portion of his training in Europe, the Committee are not in a position to make any recommendations on the subject

■ Without attempting to draw up a regular curriculum, which can be safely left to those responsible for the scholastic education of the young Prince, we wish to emphasize that his studies should take such form as may best develop his mental faculties, and that it is most essential that he should acquire such a thorough knowledge of the English language as will enable him to talk and read it and express and record his thoughts in that language with facility He must also of course be thoroughly at home in the vernacular of his State

4 Where such vernacular is not that generally spoken in other parts of India a colloquial knowledge of Hindi or Urdu is desirable with the minor Ruler and if possible two or three carefully selected companions of his own age should be associated with him. The Guardian should accompany him to College or superintend his education in his State, as the case may be, and while joining in his sports and games, be responsible for the strict bringing up of the Minor. He should also see that those responsible for the moral and religious teaching of the Minor Prince are not neglecting their duties. The Guardian should be in frequent communication with the Minor's mother or whoever stands "in loco parentis" and with his religious teachers, or any others in the State who are in a position to have a say in his bringing up and who are known to have his best interests at heart.

■ During the period of his early education the Tutor or Guardian should ordinarily reside

6. Two years before his coming of age or at about the age of 16 the minor Ruler should begin his training in administration work. As a preliminary to his doing this it is essential that he shall be taught the principles of Law (Hindu, Muhammadan, and the most important Acts of the legislature) and be well grounded in the rules in force in his State governing all the important Departments. He should also be conversant with the principles of Budget and State Finance. He should then acquire knowledge of the working of the various Departments of the State, a selected official of the Department concerned attending and explaining the constitution and cost of the Department, and the way the work is carried on. Files of cases dealt with by the Department should then be studied. Under the guidance of his Guardian the young Ruler should make notes of what is shown him and it should rest with the Guardians to keep all important facts focussed before his memory. A number of files already dealt with and settled by the Department concerned can be gone through and the Minor Ruler taught to record the facts and write his decisions or orders on them. Every variety of Revenue, Jagir, and Succession case can be gone through in this manner, as also civil and criminal cases and appeals. The young Ruler should also attend Courts of Law and see how cases are conducted.

7 The Minor Ruler should tour in his State and thus acquire knowledge of localities, and of the people inhabiting them, as also of the local landowners and jagirdars. He should be shown in the most practical manner how survey and settlement work is done, how jamabandi is carried out, revenue collected and village records kept. He can be shown selected fields, and have the cost of production, the value of the crop, the State demand, and the profit left to the cultivator, all explained to him. He can study the indebtedness of cultivators and the interest they have to pay, and other economic problems connected with the welfare of the village community. He can also be shown the work of District Offices and Tahsils and the tour can be utilized to afford opportunities for the Minor Ruler to acquire facility in replying to addresses.

8 While practical training in administrative work is going on, the Minor Prince should also study with his Tutor theoretical problems bearing on such State work. He should also study important questions of the day, History, especially of India and his own State, Biographies, English Literature, and healthy books of fiction. The study of the system of Parliamentary Government and of the British Government of India, etc., should also claim his attention. As the time draws near for the young Ruler to assume ruling powers, he should read up the correspondence between the British Government and the State and between the Ruler and his Ministers, and should study all the Treaties and Agreements between his State and the British Government. He should also attend meetings of the Council and take part in their deliberations.

9 The physical training including manly sports and games of the Minor Ruler is also of the highest importance and where possible his military training should be carried on in the State side by side with his administrative training.

10 Throughout the training of the Minor Ruler times should be fixed for him to meet his relations, and also for him to receive Nobles or others in audience in the presence of his Guardian.

11. Ordinarily it is not desirable that young Rulers should be absent from their States during the period of administrative training, except for necessary reasons or for a well-earned holiday.

12. Particular attention should be paid to the selection of a well qualified, conscientious and sympathetic Tutor or Guardian of suitable age. The Minor Ruler's relations or those responsible for his bringing up should nominate the Tutor or Guardian for the approval of the Government of India.

13. In the event of the Minor Ruler being sent to Europe for any part of his education, it is essential that the principles, recorded herein, regarding proper supervision and guardianship, should apply. It is generally desirable, where possible, that the Minor Ruler should be accompanied by one or more relations or Sirdars, who would keep him in touch with the customs and manners of his own people or that such other arrangements as are possible should be made with this object in view.

Cf. Cir. Nos. 1328
—1329-G., dated
11th June 1909.

53. In some cases Darbars are invited to supply statistical information for incorporation in statistics of the Empire published for the use of the general public and especially of the commercial community. If the supply of such information is a source of undue trouble to any Darbar, the Political Officer should himself prepare the best estimate possible (declaring it to be such) on such materials as may be available.

Foreign and Political Department
Resolution No. 2563-1161-Intl., dated 19th December 1922.

54. In supersession of previous instructions so far as they relate to the acquisition of residential property by Ruling Princes and Chiefs, their near relatives or the notables of their States the following procedure has been laid down by the Government of India on the subject:—

I. Acquisition of residential property in certain towns and hill stations.—
The previous consent of the Government of India or of the Local Government Acquisition by Ruling Princes and Chiefs of residential property in British India.

concerned is required for the acquisition of residential property by Ruling Princes and Chiefs, their near relatives or the notables of their States, in the Presidency towns, Poona and the following hill stations* —

Simla	Mussoorie
Shillong	Landour
Darjeeling	Lansdowne
Pachmarhi	Nainital
Murree	Bhowali
Dalhousie	Almora
Dharmasala	Ranikhet
Mahabaleshwar	Any stations in the Nil
Matheran	giris or Palni Hills

Such consent will, however, be subject in all cases to certain conditions. The following will always be required and it is left to the Government of Bombay to impose others in accordance with their previous practice in cases where they are concerned —

(i) No transfer of the property will be effected nor any incumbrance on it created without the previous consent of the Government of India or the Local Government concerned,

(ii) If " " " " pointed in the ty is situated,
case of need,

(iii) The property will not be used without the previous consent of the Government of India or the Local Government concerned for purposes other than residential, and

* The Government of India reserve to themselves the direction to add to this list as may be necessary

- (iv) The property where acquired by a Prince or Chief will be acquired as State property and not as personal property.

The Government of India understand that Ruling Princes and Chiefs sometimes find it to their advantage to acquire benami. They have no objection to this method of acquisition provided that their previous consent is obtained, and provided also that once the transaction is completed the Ruling Prince or Chief steps into his real position.

The above procedure does not extend to the prevention of the acquisition of residential property by bequest or succession. The question whether the individual beneficiary should be desired to divest himself of his proprietary rights in the property and, if so, in what manner and within what period, will be a matter for decision in each case with reference to the particular circumstances.

II. Acquisition of residential property in British India in general.—The Government of India have no objection to the acquisition by Ruling Princes and Chiefs, their near relatives or notables of their States, whether by purchase, mortgage or lease, of immovable property for residential purposes in any part of British India other than the towns and hill stations named above, provided that previous intimation of the intention to acquire such property is given to the Local Government concerned and that conditions (i) to (iv) of clause I are recognised and accepted.

III. The Government of India are pleased to delegate to the Governments of Madras, Bombay, Bengal, United Provinces, Punjab, Bihar and Orissa, Assam and the Central Provinces the power to approve acquisitions of immovable property for residential purposes within the Province concerned by Rulers, their near relatives and notables of Indian States situated in the Province.

55 In supersession of previous instructions so far as they relate to the acquisition of non residential property in British India by Ruling Princes and Chiefs their near relatives or the notables of their States the following principles have been laid down by the Government of India on the subject —

Cf Foreign and Political Department Resolution No F 248 R/32, dated the 22nd September 1933.

1 In view of the special position of Ruling Princes and Chiefs, the acquisition by them or their heirs apparent of non residential property in British India should be subject to the following terms and conditions —

In this Resolution (a) "non residential property" means any immovable property or interest in immovable property, which is not required for the residence of a Ruling Prince or Chief or his heir apparent

(b) "The Local Government concerned" means the Local Government within whose jurisdiction the property is situate

2 (1) A Ruling Prince or Chief or the heir apparent of such Ruling Prince or Chief may acquire non residential property in British India either in his own name or in the name of any other person only with the consent of the Government of India or the Local Government concerned. Such consent should ordinarily be obtained before the acquisition, but when this course is impracticable the consent should be obtained within a reasonable time after the acquisition.

(2) A Ruling Prince or Chief or the heir apparent of such Ruling Prince or Chief desiring to transfer by way of mortgage any such property in British India should obtain the previous consent of the Government of India or the Local Government concerned

■ (1) Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, a Ruling Prince or Chief may acquire non residential property in British India,—

(a) for the purpose of providing for his younger sons or relatives other than the heir apparent,

(b) for religious or charitable purposes

An acquisition under this paragraph should be communicated to the Government of India or the Local Government concerned immediately after the completion of the transaction duties should be made without the further consent of the Government of India.

III. In cases of emergency there is no objection to provisional appointments being made by Ruling Princes and Chiefs, subject to the subsequent consent of Government, which will be asked for as soon as possible.

IV. Subject to clause I above, there is no restriction on the employment in Indian States of Indian pensioners of all classes.

V. The consent of the Government of India will not be required in the case of the temporary engagement of professional people, such as barristers, doctors, nurses, etc., on payment of the usual fees.

2. All Local Governments and Administrations and the Political Officers noted in the margin have the power of sanctioning the employment, in any capacity, of persons described in clause I (a) and (d), (read with proviso 1), in the Indian States under their political control, subject to the understanding that, in each case, before sanction is accorded, full enquiry will be made into the character and antecedents of the person whose services a Darbar may propose to engage. The question of the emoluments to be given in each case is left unreservedly to the discretion of Darbars, and no further sanction is needed for the extension of the period of engagement of any such person.

sanction is sought to the acquisition of such property, the matter should be referred for the orders of the Govt of India (or of the Local Govt in the case of a Ruling Prince or Chief or Notable in political relations with them desiring to acquire property within the territory* of that Government) It is the usual practice that when in such cases acquisition is approved the Ruler or Notable becomes subject to the ordinary civil courts in respect of the property sanction of the Government of India is required, applications should, after the preliminary details have been arranged, be submitted by the Local Administration or Political Officer concerned, to the Government of India in the Foreign and Political Department. When an officer's transfer to Foreign Service for a stated term has been sanctioned by the Government of India, any extension of such employment may be sanctioned by the Local Government under whose orders he served prior to his transfer, without further reference to the Government of India, provided that no change is made in the conditions of his employment which would otherwise require the sanction of the Government of India.

No officer lent on Foreign Service conditions to an Indian State will be allowed to retire voluntarily from the British service on pension while remaining in the service of the Indian State.

As regards the employment by Darbars of persons who are in receipt of Government pensions:—

(i) The previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council must be obtained in any case in which the Darbar of an Indian State proposes to employ, for any stated period after his retirement from the service of Government, any member of the Indian Civil Service, or any person who has held an appointment usually reserved for members of the Indian Civil Service. If on the expiry of the stated term it is desired to retain the services of any such person for a further period, the sanction of the Governor-General in Council must be obtained to such extension.

(ii) The employment of Europeans and Indians, who are in receipt of pensions from Government and who do not fall within class (i) described above, is governed by the rules which obtain in the case of Europeans who are not in the service of Government (cf. following paragraph); but the enquiry prescribed in that paragraph may be dispensed with if not considered necessary, and no sanction is required to the employment of Indian pensioners as sepoys menials or in any purely ministerial capacity

CHAPTER VII

Extradition.

58 In all cases of extradition from British India to State territory, Political Officers should be guided by the Extradition Act, 1903, and the Rules framed thereunder. The Act and Rules contain provisions for giving effect to extradition treaties where these exist.

59 The following are the rules made by the Governor-General in Council in exercise of the powers conferred by the Indian (Foreign Jurisdiction) Order in Council, 1902, and by section 22 of the Indian Extradition Act, 1903 (XV of 1903) —

For Dept Notfn
No 1862 I A, dated 13th May 1904, No 3472 I C, dated 28th Aug
1908

- (1) The Political Agent shall not issue a warrant under section 7 of the Indian Extradition Act 1903 (hereinafter referred to as "the said Act"), in any case which is provided for by Treaty, if the State concerned has expressly stated that it desires to abide by the procedure of the Treaty, nor in any case in which a requisition for surrender has been made by, or on behalf of, the State under section 9 of the said Act.
- (2) The Political Agent shall not issue a warrant under section 7 of the said Act except on a request preferred to him in writing either by, or by the authority of, the person for the time being administering the Executive Government of the State for which he is a Political Agent, or by any Court within such State which has been specified in this behalf by the Governor General in Council, or by the Governor of Madras or Bombay in Council, as the case may be, by notification in the official "Gazette".
- (3) If the accused person is a British subject, the Political Agent shall, before issuing a warrant under section 7 of the said Act

consider whether he ought not to certify the case as one suitable for trial in British India, and he shall, instead of issuing such a warrant, so certify the case, if he is satisfied that the interests of justice and the convenience of witnesses can be better served by the trial being held in British India.

*Cf. For. Dept.
Notifn. No. 823-D.,
dated 25th March 1913.*

- (4) The Political Agent shall, in all cases before issuing a warrant under section 7 of the said Act, satisfy himself by preliminary enquiry that there is a prima facie case against the accused person.
  - (5) The Political Agent shall, before issuing a warrant under section 7 of the said Act, decide whether the warrant shall provide for the delivery of the accused persons—
    - (a) To the Political Agent or to a British officer subordinate to the Political Agent with a view to his trial by the Political Agent, or
    - (b) To an authority of the State with a view to his trial by the State Courts.
- Before coming to a decision the Political Agent shall take the following matters into consideration :—
- (i) The nature of the offence charged ;
  - (ii) The delay and trouble involved in bringing the accused person before himself ;
  - (iii) The judicial qualifications of the Courts of the State ;
  - (iv) Whether the accused person is a British subject or not, and if he is a British (other than European British) subject whether the Courts of the State, either by custom or by recognition, try such British subjects surrendered to them ; and
  - (v) Whether the Courts of the State have, by custom or by recognition, power to inflict the punishment which may be inflicted under the Indian Penal Code for an offence similar to that with which the accused person is charged

- (6) Notwithstanding anything in rule 5, the Political Agent shall make the warrant provide for the delivery of the accused persons to himself (or to an officer subordinate to himself), or to an authority of the State concerned, as the case may be, if he is generally or specially instructed by the Governor General in Council to try an accused person himself or to make him over for trial to the proper Court of such State
- (7) In the case of an accused person made over for trial to the Court of the State the Political Agent shall satisfy himself that the accused receives a fair trial and that the punishment inflicted on conviction is not excessive or barbarous, and, if he is not so satisfied, he shall demand the restoration of the prisoner to his custody, pending the orders of the Governor General in Council
- (8) Accused persons arrested in British India on warrants issued under section 7 or section 9 of the said Act shall be treated as far as possible in the same way as persons under trial in British India
- (9) A person sentenced to imprisonment by a Political Agent shall, if a British subject, be conveyed to the most convenient prison under British administration, and shall there be dealt with as though he had been sentenced under the local law,

Provided always that this rule shall not be construed so as to give such person any right of appeal other than that allowed by the rules for the time being in force for regulating appeals from the decisions of the Political Agent

(10) Nothing in these rules shall be held to apply to areas in Indian States under British jurisdiction, in which the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (Act V of 1898), is in force.

Cf. For. Dept.
Cir. No. 2329-
2330-I.C., dated
22nd June 1907.

60. While section 7 of the Indian Extradition Act authorises a Political Agent to issue his warrant only in respect of an offence described in the First Schedule to the Act there is no such limitation to proceedings under section 9 of the Act. When a Darbar makes an application for the surrender of a criminal, it does not necessarily distinguish between an application for the issue of a warrant under section 7 and for surrender under section 9 of the Act. Action under the latter section should not be taken unless it is specifically pressed for. Accordingly, when the application is for the surrender of a person accused of a non-extradition offence, the Political Officer receiving the requisition should first point out that the issue of a warrant under section 7 of the Act is impracticable. Should the Darbar notwithstanding express a desire to proceed by way of section 9, the Political Agent should forward the requisition for the orders of the Local Government having jurisdiction over the place where the offender is supposed to be, or in special cases, if the Darbar so desire, for the orders of the Government of India. In order to assist the Government concerned in arriving at a decision he should further submit with the requisition a report on the circumstances of the case and his own recommendation as to whether the Darbar's request should be granted or refused.

61. Under section 54 (seventhly) of the Code of Criminal Procedure any Police Officer may arrest without warrant any person who has been concerned in, or against whom a reasonable complaint has been made or credible information has been received or a reasonable suspicion exists of his having been concerned in, any act committed at any place out of British India which,

Arrest of absconding offenders in British India in advance of proceedings under Act XV of 1903.

if committed in British India, would have been punishable as an offence, and for which he is, under any law relating to extradition or under the Fugitive Offenders Act, 1881, or otherwise, liable to be apprehended or detained in custody in British India

It is open to Political Officers at their discretion to take steps by telegraph or otherwise to secure the arrest of offenders under these powers in advance of the issue of a formal warrant under section 7 of the Indian Extradition Act, 1903

62 The Indian Extradition Act and the Rules thereunder have, as such,

Extradition from State territory to British India no application to extradition from State territory.

But subject to exceptions based on local customs, applications to a Darbar for extradition should ordinarily be restricted to, and may ordinarily include, cases in which the alleged offence is one constituting an extradition offence under treaty with the State concerned or within the meaning of the British Indian Act, though in special cases a Political Officer, when moved thereto, may at his discretion request extradition for any other offence in the same way as it is open to a Darbar to do so under section 9 of the British Indian Act in the converse case

- (1) It should not be forgotten in the case of States having extradition treaties, that though neither party to a treaty may do less than is enjoined thereby, either party may do more. The Schedule to the Indian Extradition Act is more extended than that annexed to most of the extradition treaties with Darbars and thus places the Political Agent in a position to procure for a Darbar extradition from British India in respect of offences not included in the treaty with the particular Darbar. Where a Darbar avails itself of the extended facilities thus provided by the British Indian Act, there is no need for hesitation in forwarding to it applications for extradition in respect of any offence included in the Schedule to the Act though it may not appear in that annexed to the treaty.

63. The offence of desertion from the Imperial Army is one in respect of which application for surrender should be made in all cases.

64. The fact that an accused person is undergoing a sentence of imprisonment in State territory need not necessarily constitute an objection to application for his surrender by the Darbar, should the public interest appear to justify it and if there are no political difficulties involved. In deciding whether an application should or should not be made for surrender in such cases Political Officers should be guided by the particular circumstances, regard being had to the nature of the offence for which the offender is undergoing imprisonment in the Indian State, the nature of the offence for which surrender is sought, and the probability or otherwise of his being convicted for such offence.

65. When a Political Officer receives from a proper authority in British India a requisition for the extradition of an alleged offender supposed to have taken refuge in State territory, he should first see that the requisition is accompanied by primâ facie evidence recorded on oath by a Magistrate and that the alleged offence is one for which extradition may properly be asked, having regard to the principles stated in the preceding paragraphs. If in his opinion both these conditions are satisfied, he should transmit the application and its accompaniments to the Darbar. If he finds that the primâ facie evidence has been omitted or has not been recorded in due form or that the offence is one for which it is not incumbent on the Darbar under treaty or otherwise to grant extradition and in respect of which it would be unadvisable to request surrender as a matter of comity, then he should return the requisition to the authority in British India with a statement of his reasons for non compliance

66 When a Political Officer receives from a proper authority in British India a mere application for arrest accompanied by a statement of the information on which the request is made, the request should ordinarily be transmitted to the Darbar, the British Indian

the event of undue delay in the arrival of such formal application, Political Officers should bear in mind that the ordinary limit of detention in similar cases in British India is two months [vide section 10 (3) of the Indian Extradition Act, 1903]

67 In some cases special arrangements have been made to regulate interstate extradition. Where no such arrangement exists all that one Darbar can reasonably demand from another and all that the Paramount Power can be expected to assist in obtaining, is such co operation as may be consistent with the principles of comity applied with due regard to the particular circumstances of the two States concerned. Applications for interstate extradition should ordinarily be accompanied by prima facie evidence of the offence charged, whether the accused be a subject of the State asking extradition or not.

Of For Dept
letter to Agent to the Govr Genl in Central India No
324 I dated 9th

68 As regards the part which Political Officers should take in negotiations for interstate extradition, no absolute rule can be laid down. But ordinarily Political Officers when transmitting such applications for extradition should observe a neutral attitude and should be careful not to carry intervention further than is

Attitude of Political Officers in regard to interstate extradition really necessary. As a general rule, they should refrain from certifying a suspected offender to be primâ facie guilty, and should merely transmit a statement of the case with the application for surrender after seeing that there is nothing repugnant to justice or public policy in the application. Cases may occur in which a Political Officer at his discretion may give his imprimatur to an application for extradition, but any reasonable request for further information by the State from which extradition is demanded should invariably be supported.

CHAPTER VIII.

Certain matters affecting the administration of justice.

69 All European British subjects are liable to Courts of British India for offences against British Indian law committed by them in Indian States, and the exercise of criminal jurisdiction over such persons by Indian States is subject to the control of the Government of India

Jurisdiction over European British subjects in State territory

70 Europeans and Americans not being British subjects are in a different position from European British subjects in that they are not liable to the Courts of British India for offences committed in Indian State territory. But the exercise of criminal jurisdiction over such persons by Indian States is none the less subject to the control of the Government of India. Except in cases which can properly be disposed of under arrangements already approved, the orders of the Government of India should be taken in each case as to the procedure proposed

Jurisdiction over Europeans and Americans in State territory

71 By the law of British India all Indian subjects of His Majesty and all servants of the King, whether British subjects or not, are amenable to British Indian jurisdiction for crime committed in the territories of an Indian State. The extent to which this jurisdiction should be exercised must depend on treaties, engagements, local practice, the conditions of each State, and the circumstances of each case. Where jurisdiction is left with the Darbar Courts, there is a right of representation to the Political Agent, who should not however interfere save in special circumstances.

Jurisdiction over Indian British subjects in State territory

72 The following rules relate to jurisdiction by Indian States over Indian officers and soldiers of the Indian Army.

Except where further jurisdiction may be specially conceded, the exercise of criminal jurisdiction by the Courts of Indian States over Indian officers and soldiers of the Indian Army is limited to the case of such an officer or soldier who, while on leave in the State, commits an offence which renders him subject to arrest or who, while on leave in the State, is arrested for an offence committed by him in the State on some previous occasion whether during leave or otherwise, provided that it be not one which was committed while on duty and in respect of which he has been tried and either acquitted or punished by the British authorities.

An Indian officer or soldier of the Indian Army who, otherwise than while on leave, commits any kind of offence within the territories of an Indian State is not amenable to the jurisdiction of the State Courts except with the consent of the Government of India.

When, however, such an officer or soldier while not on leave, commits within an Indian State an offence in respect of which he is liable by the law of the State to arrest, he may be arrested by State authority, provided that the circumstances are not such as to allow of immediate arrest by the military authorities. But the offender in such case should be handed over forthwith to the nearest military authority.

letter to the A. G.
G., Punjab States,
No. 2522-934-Int.,
dated 13th Deco.

The rule applies to all soldiers of the Indian Army, whether they are or are not British Indian subjects.

Should the Political Officer for the State consider it desirable, for any special reason, that the offender should be tried by the Darbar Courts, he may request the military authorities either to deliver the accused to the Darbar for trial or to postpone proceedings pending a reference to the Governor-General in Council. The military authorities, on receiving such a request should either deliver over the offender or forthwith refer the question as to the Court before which the proceedings are to be instituted for the decision of the Governor-General in Council.

In order to promote the ends of justice and to meet the convenience of Darbar officials or subjects whose attendance may be necessary at the trial of an Indian officer or soldier of the Indian Army who may have committed an offence within the territories of an Indian State the military authorities will arrange that in such cases, whenever the exigencies of military service permit the offender shall be tried at the cantonment nearest to the place where the offence was committed

Indian officers, Indian soldiers, and enrolled and attested followers of His Majesty's Army, arrangements should be made, whenever any one of the above is arrested under the orders of any Court of an Indian State, to secure the supply of prompt information to the military authorities. A further report should follow in the event of such arrest resulting in imprisonment

74 No provision of law exists by which the attendance of British subjects can be enforced for the purpose of giving evidence before a Darbar

If the evidence of such persons is wanted by any such Court, they may be invited to attend at the time and place fixed, but if they fail to do so the only course left is for the Court to get their evidence taken on commission. As regards the issue of commissions in civil cases, reference should be made to Part III of the Code of Civil Procedure 1908, in respect of commissions issued by Criminal Courts outside British India, reference should be made to section 21 of the Indian Extradition Act 1903

Cf. For. Dept.
Cir. No. 25-I.A.,
dated 3rd Jan.
1902.

In executing commissions received under section 503 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, Political officers should be careful to observe the provisions of the law strictly and should note in'cr alia that though the law authorises delegation to a subordinate officer invested with powers not less than those exercised by a Magistrate of the first class in British India, there is no authority for making over the commission for execution by a Magistrate subordinate to a Durbar; secondly, that the evidence should be recorded in the manner prescribed by Chapter XXV of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, for the hearing of warrant cases.

76. Section 44 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, provides for the execution in British India of the decrees of certain Civil or Revenue Courts situate in the territories of an Indian State, as if they had been passed by the Courts of British India.

Where Courts of Indian States are notified under this section, it is the practice for the State concerned to reciprocate in the execution of decrees of British Courts.

Where a decree has been passed by an Indian State Court not notified under section 44 of the Code, it is open to the decree-holder to seek a fresh decree in a British Court on the basis of the decree of the Indian State Court. Reference may be made in this connection to sections 13 and 14 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908. Conversely, in any case in which an Indian State Court is not prepared to execute a British Indian decree as such, it is open to the holder of such a decree to seek a fresh decree in the Indian State Court on the basis of the British Indian decree.

Save in very exceptional circumstances Political Officers should not lend their official support in any way to such applications.

77. Permission to sue a Ruling Prince or Chief in the Courts of British India can only be given under the conditions stated in section 86 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908. Save only in very exceptional circumstances, Political Officers should decline to make representations to a Darbar on behalf of any person having a pecuniary claim against a Ruling Prince or Chief.

78 The Code of Civil Procedure makes provision in Order V for the service in certain cases in Indian States of summonses issued by Civil Courts in British India.

79 By sections 15 and 18 of the Prisoners Act 1900, officers in charge of prisons outside the Presidency towns are authorised to give effect to certain sentences passed by certain specified Courts or tribunals in the territories of Indian States.

80 Subject to such special exceptions as may be authorised by the Government of India on the ground of the poverty of a particular State or for other sufficient cause, when a prisoner is convicted by a British officer, or by a Court of which a British officer is one of the presiding Judges, of an offence or offences committed within the jurisdiction of an Indian State the charge for his maintenance, if he is sentenced to imprisonment and undergoes such sentence in a British gaol, shall be borne by the State in which the offence was committed.

Exception—No claim will be made upon an Indian State for the maintenance of a prisoner convicted of an offence or offences within its jurisdiction, when such prisoner is a British subject for whose trial in British territory a Political Officer has given a certificate under section 188 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, or is a Government servant who has committed an offence in respect of his duties as such and in his official capacity.

Note—When a concurrent sentence is passed for two or more offences committed within the jurisdiction of different Indian States, the liability for the prisoner's maintenance will ordinarily rest with that State within whose jurisdiction the first in date of such offences was committed. But it will be within the discretion of the Court passing the sentence in any particular case, for special and sufficient cause to be recorded in writing, to charge the whole or any part of the cost of the prisoner's maintenance to any State within whose jurisdiction an offence other than the first offence of which he has been convicted, has been committed.

When a prisoner is separately sentenced for two or more offences committed within the jurisdiction of different Indian States, the liability for his maintenance will follow the ordinary rules.

81. The following instructions are for the guidance of medical officers :—
(Giving of professional opinion or evidence in court by medical officers.)

(i) If a medical officer in Government employ is approached by a private party with a view to giving expert evidence in a case in which he has not been professionally engaged, he shall, if it be a matter that is, or is likely to be, in issue in criminal proceedings, or if it be a civil suit to which Government is a party, refuse to give any opinion, and shall confine himself to informing the private party that he will be prepared to give evidence provided that a summons is sent to him from the court concerned.

(ii) If in the circumstances contemplated by subparagraph (i) he receives a summons to attend a court he shall, without delay, intimate the fact to the principal local medical authority ; or where he himself occupies that position, to the local political authority.

(iii) If he gives expert evidence in any criminal case or in any civil suit in which Government is interested, and in which he has not been summoned at the instance of the Crown, he shall report the fact to the officer mentioned in clause (ii) above and furnish him with a statement of all fees and expenses and all other remuneration which he has received in respect of the matter, including therein all fees paid for a preliminary opinion.

The Armed Forces of Indian States.

82. The Government of India require an annual return to be submitted by the 15th February of each year showing the military forces of each Indian State in the form given in Appendix V. The figures in this return should be tabulated by Political Officers on the basis of information which it is the practice for Darbars to supply, and Political Officers should report, as far as from their own observation they are able to do so, upon the value of the troops entered in the returns (other than the troops shewn in the Indian State Forces Army List) and the nature and condition of their arms and equipment.

Arms of precision or rapid fire are not ordinarily supplied to the military forces of Indian States except when they have been re-organised in accordance with the scheme sanctioned in January 1921. (a) In the case of arms purchased by or on behalf of Ruling Princes and Chiefs and others non British subjects residing out of British India a refund of differential duty may be granted provided (i) the application for the refund claimed is accompanied by a courtesy certificate granted by the Political Officer or other local authority concerned, according as the refund is recommended on political or other grounds, (ii) the arms purchased are in reasonable quantity, and (iii) the arms are for the personal use of the purchaser or the individual for whom the purchase is made

(b) Refunds of differential duty may also be granted on arms purchased by or on behalf of natural born or naturalized subjects of His Majesty resident in Indian States, Foreign Settlements, tribal or administered areas and States bordering on the Indian Frontier, who would in British India, be lawfully entitled to possess arms, provided always that the arms are intended for the personal use of the purchaser or of another British subject who, in British India, would be lawfully entitled to possess arms. If the purchaser or the person for whom the purchase is made is a European and no doubt exists as to his identity, no courtesy certificate is required. In all other cases, i.e., those where the purchaser or the person for whom the purchase is made is either a European whose identity is at all doubtful, or a non-European, a reference should be made to, and no refund granted except on the recommendation of, the local Political authority.

- (c) All cases which do not fall within the scope of the instructions in (a) and (b) above, but in which the grant of a refund of differential duty is recommended for any special reasons, should be submitted for the orders of the Government of India in the Commerce and Industry Department through the Local Government or Local Administration concerned.

As regards the courtesy certificates referred to in (a) and (b) above, Political Officers to whom applications for such certificates may be made should be careful not to grant certificates except in cases which are covered by the above orders. The ground on which a refund is recommended (i.e., either that the purchaser of the arms is a British subject who would be entitled to possess the arms in British India or that he is a Ruling Prince or Chief or Notable to whom it is desirable that the concession should be made as a matter of courtesy) should be entered in the certificate, and the certificate should also indicate whether the weapons specified in it are for the personal use of the purchaser or for other purpose.

91. The following rules have been prescribed to regulate the relations of Military Advisers with the Darbars of Indian States and with the political authorities.

Military Advisers are not permitted to command the troops of Indian States but only to instruct and supervise. They are not ordinarily allowed to reside permanently in any single State.

They should never lose sight of the fact that the State Forces belong to the Indian States, and that the best results are likely to be attained when the Ruling Princes and Chiefs exercise a real authority over them, utilise them in every possible way within their States, and take a direct interest and pride in them. They should further bear in mind that it is to the Ruling Prince or Chief that the troops and subjects of each State should look for appointments and promotions, and that where the custom of an Indian State leads to special consideration of family considerations and social position, the moral influence of men selected on such grounds may be expected to counterbalance a want of professional knowledge

They should be scrupulously careful to act in all matters in communication and accord with the Local Governments and political authorities.

They should not write direct to a Darbar to give advice. If they wish to urge any point which cannot be dealt with by means of a verbal communication, the matter should be referred to the political authorities. This prohibition does not, however, preclude Military Advisers from sending to the Darbar official concerned memoranda on points of drill, discipline and the like, the reference of which to the political authorities would cause unnecessary delay and rigidity.

All important matters regarding the organisation or movements of Indian State Forces, or regarding any matter affecting any member of the family of a Ruling Prince or Chief who may be serving as an officer in any of the Indian State Forces, should be referred to the political authorities. But matters of purely military detail, such as applications for the instruction of classes in British India, applications for the deputation of drill or musketry instructors to Indian States, requisitions for stores for the use of the Indian State Forces may be referred direct

In the case of members of the Provincial Civil Service application should be made in the form prescribed for members of the Indian Civil Service, but the Government of India desire to receive, in addition, full information of the services rendered by candidates of the Provincial Service which are held to be exceptionally meritorious.

In some instances when the grounds are too extensive for a Political Officer to keep up at his own expense a grant is also made to him by Government to enable him to do this. In such cases, a Political Officer is required to pay rent for the house, under Article 325 of the Public Works Department Code, subject to a maximum of 10 per cent. of his salary and local allowance. Where no furniture is supplied and no assistance is given by Government towards the upkeep of the grounds, the maximum limit of the rent payable is reduced to 5 per cent. of the officer's salary and local allowance.

In certain cases, where the Durbar is unwilling to sell or lease its property to Government, a Political Officer is permitted, with the special sanction of the Government of India, to occupy a house belonging to the Durbar rent-free, subject to the following rules :—

(a) No expenditure for alterations or additions to the house should be put upon the Durbar, without the prior written consent of Government.

(b) If the Durbar is unwilling to sell or remove the furniture already in the house, it may be allowed to remain, but no renewals or renovations should be made at the cost of the Durbar, without the special sanction of the Government of India.

(d) Without the prior consent of the Local Government, Durbar servants should not be utilised for the care of the house or the maintenance of gardens

No Political Officer is allowed, without special permission from the Government of India, to occupy free quarters at the expense of a Durbar in British territory, when such accommodation is considered necessary it is ordinarily provided by Government and not by the Indian States. The provision of a house whether on loan, lease or other terms, by an Indian State for a Political Officer or his family, at a hill station, is also prohibited, except with the special sanction of the Government of India

The above instructions do not apply to houses of the nature of public rest-houses and guest houses which Durbars may provide with suitable furniture and servants without interference, even though a Political Officer may occasionally make use of them. A Political Officer may not, however, be furnished with permanent quarters, in such a rest house, nor may he occupy it otherwise than on a tour undertaken bona fide as a matter of duty needed by the British members of the party, or by their Indian clerks or attendants, should be furnished beforehand for the information of the Government of India. If the Indian State makes its own arrangements independently of the Political Officer and outside his residence, there is no occasion for this scrutiny, but in so far as the Political Officer arranges for the entertainment of the Governor-General in his own house, on behalf of the Durbar, nothing should be done at the expense of the Durbar without the full knowledge and approval of the Government of India. Like instructions apply in the case of visits made by the head of the Local Government or Administration save that in such cases the report of the Political Officer may be disposed of under the orders of the Local Government or Administration.

In the case of visits of travellers or distinguished strangers, a clear line should be drawn between hospitality extended by the Durbar itself, in its own guest-houses, and that given at the residence of the Political Officer. A Political Officer should have no general authority to entertain the guests of a Durbar at its cost, in his own house. Cases may occur where a foreigner or other guest of distinction, invited by the Ruling Prince or Chief, can most conveniently be received at the Residency, but if any part of the cost of the arrangements is to fall on the State, the previous sanction of the Local Government or Administration should be obtained. Otherwise every guest entertained by a Political Officer should be entertained at his own cost.

108 The acceptance by an officer in political employ of free supplies of provisions, fuel fodder lighting or minor accessories of any description from Durbars or Indian State officials or at the cost of Local Funds is absolutely prohibited at head quarters. In camp, it may often be necessary to apply to the local authorities for help in regard to both transport and supplies, as it is important that the movements of a Political Officer should not be restricted by such considerations. In these cases the Durbar is ordinarily expected to sanction and regulate such applications, on payment by the indenting officer. Where camels or carts can be hired there should be no recourse to the Durbar.

These Rules 17 A) apply at no time, either during active service, without the express permission of Government, to the Press on a subject formed by them or divulged by them. needed by the British members of the party, or by their Indian clerks or attendants, should be furnished beforehand for the information of the Government of India. If the Indian State makes its own arrangements independently of the Political Officer and outside his residence, there is no occasion for this scrutiny, but in so far as the Political Officer arranges for the entertainment of the Governor-General in his own house, on behalf of the Durbar, nothing should be done at the expense of the Durbar without the full knowledge and approval of the Government of India. Like instructions apply in the case of visits made by the head of the Local Government or Administration save that in such cases the report of the Political Officer may be disposed of under the orders of the Local Government or Administration.

In the case of visits of travellers or distinguished strangers, a clear line should be drawn between hospitality extended by the Durbar itself, in its own guest-houses, and that given at the residence of the Political Officer. A Political Officer should have no general authority to entertain the guests of a Durbar at its cost, in his own house. Cases may occur where a foreigner or other guest of distinction, invited by the Ruling Prince or Chief, can most conveniently be received at the Residency, but if any part of the cost of the arrangements is to fall on the State, the previous sanction of the Local Government or Administration should be obtained. Otherwise every guest entertained by a Political Officer should be entertained at his own cost.

114 All officers of the Political Department are expected to make themselves acquainted with the rules and principles contained in Volume I of the Civil Account Code

Rules of account.

Particular attention is invited to the rules relating to—

- (1) The preparation of budgets, Article 187 ,
- (2) The difference between budget sanction and sanction to expenditure, Articles 190, 191 and 192 ,
- (3) The submission of reappropriation statements in the case of expenditure not provided for in the budget, Articles 189 191 and 234 ,
- (4) The submission of proposition statements in case of a proposal to entertain a new or vary an existing establishment, Article 63 ,
- (5) The maintenance of service books, Articles 73 and 74 ,
- (6) The grant of compensation for dearness of provisions Article 80 ,
- (7) The maintenance of 'Contingent Registers' Articles 94—96
- (8) Contingent charges including expenditure on books and newspapers, Appendix 5, rule 13, stationery and typewriters Appendix 5, rules 21 and 24, articles which are not manufactured in India, Appendix 4, rule 3

It may be noted that the supply of typewriters under proper sanction from a Government Stationery Office is independent of budget provision in the budget of the indenting officer

115 The following rules [read with Appendix 5—
Supply of maps. 13 II (1) of the Civil Account Code] regulate the supply by the Survey of India of maps required for public use —

The Map Record and Issue Office, Calcutta, supplies printed maps on the public service, on book debit. It also arranges for the colouring and mount ing of maps when required. All charges for freight and postage of parcels must be borne by applicants themselves. Incidental charges for colouring, mounting, and binding maps, and for packing cases, are included in the bills submitted by this office. When accounts are settled by book-debit, the rules as to the disposal of the duplicate and triplicate copies of the invoice, printed thereon, must be strictly adhered to. Cash payments include payments by Money Order, Remittance Transfer Receipts, and Cheques (not crossed) on European Banks in Calcutta. Hundis and Receipts for payment into Treasuries are not accepted, but postage labels of the value of half or one anna are accepted for bills not exceeding one rupee in amount.

All applications for printed maps on the public service should be made to the Officer-in-Charge of the Map Record and Issue Office, 13, Wood Street, Calcutta, and should give full and clear particulars as to the kind of map required and its scale; and any other information that will guide that office in knowing exactly what is required.

The mode of transit and address, or station to which the maps are to be sent, should invariably be specified. All addresses should be clearly written.

Indent forms for maps on the public service can be obtained from the Officer-in-Charge of the Map Record and Issue Office.

Indents by officers of the Political Department for printed maps on the public service must be approved and countersigned by a Political Agent, or Higher Authority.

Power is reserved to the Surveyor-General to refer to the Local Government for orders, any indent brought to his notice by the Officer-in-Charge of the Map Record and Issue Office, which may appear to him to require such reference, or to refuse compliance with any indent which he may consider unreasonable.

Lists are from time to time published in Part II of the Gazette of India showing (a) the catalogues of maps and (b) the more important general maps which are available for sale at the Survey of India Map Record and Issue Office.

 of the officer reported on

These reports while giving information as far as possible regarding general ability, tact, temper, judgment, accessibility, state of health, horsemanship, self reliance, power of commanding respect, reticence, and capacity to keep secrets, should be on broad and general lines and should invariably give an opinion as to an officer's fitness for promotion and his ability to speak the vernacular. The report, for the year in which an officer draws pay at the rate of Rs 1,250 a month inclusive of personal allowance, should contain an expression of opinion whether the officer in question is qualified to hold a superior appointment.

Attention is drawn to Home Department Resolution No 1568 1595, dated 14th September 1915, which deals with the question of the communication to subordinate officers in civil employ of such unfavourable remarks as may be made in regard to them by their superiors at the time of annual and other occasions.

APPENDIX I.

Memorials and Petitions.

1 The following are the rules regarding the submission or withholding by Local Governments or Administrations and by officers of the Political Department of the Government of India, of petitions, memorials and other papers of the same class, relating to matters affecting persons or places under their jurisdiction, or other papers of India, to His Majesty the King Emperor of India, or to the Right Honourable the Secretary of State for India

I—MEMORIALS, ETC., ADDRESSED TO THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA

1 Every memorial must be submitted to the Political Officer of the State, within whose jurisdiction the subject matter has arisen, accompanied by a copy of the order appealed against and by a letter requesting its transmission to the authority to which it is addressed

For Dept. Car
No 244 G, dated
29th January

2 Memorials may be transmitted either in manuscript or in print, but must, with all accompanying documents, be properly authenticated by the signature of the memorialist on each sheet

3 Subject to the exceptions hereinafter contained, every memorial received which conforms to the above rules, should be forwarded by the Political Officer through the usual official channel, with a concise statement of material facts, and, unless there be special reasons to the contrary, an expression of opinion

4 Memorials, together with their accompanying documents, should be in English. If the accompanying documents must necessarily be forwarded in the vernacular, an English translation should be appended, which should be attested by the signature of the memorialist on each sheet.

N. B.—The transmitting officer should examine such translations and, if they are found to be incorrect or faulty, notice the fact in sending on the memorial.

5. Every memorial should be accompanied by copies of all the orders passed in the case by the authorities who have dealt with it in India.

6. Local Governments, Administrations and Political Officers in direct subordination to the Foreign and Political Department of the Government of India are vested with discretionary power to withhold memorials addressed to the Government of India in the following cases :—

- (1) When the memorial is illegible or unintelligible.
- (2) When the memorial contains language which, in the opinion of the authority who would otherwise forward it, is disloyal, disrespectful or improper.
- (3) When a previous petition of the memorialist (which term includes a rejoinder submitted by the memorialist in answer to a previous petition of some other party) has been disposed of by the Secretary of State or the Governor-General in Council and the petition discloses no new facts or circumstances which afford grounds for a reconsideration of the case.
- (4) When the memorial relates to a matter which it is within the competence of the Local Government, Administration or Political Officer to dispose of, and no application has previously been made to such Government, Administration or Political Officer for redress.
- (5) When the memorial is an appeal preferred more than six months after the date on which the memorialist was informed of the orders against which he appeals, provided that the Local Government, Administration or Political Officer as the case may be, may, at their or his discretion, extend the period to twelve months, if the delay will facilitate a settlement of the dispute, or other good cause is shown

- (6) When the memorial refers to matters in which the memorialist is not personally interested

7 Provided they do not contravene the conditions specified in the preceding section, memorials which are appeals against orders passed by Local Governments, Administrations and Political Officers in direct subordination to the Foreign and Political Department of the Government of India, in the exercise of political control in territories not included in British India, shall be forwarded, except in the following cases in which a discretionary power to withhold the memorials may be exercised —

- *(1) When the order appealed against has been passed by the Local Government, Administration or Political Officer as a recognised Court of Appeal in regard to a judgment or order of any Court of civil or criminal jurisdiction established or continued by the Governor General in Council in such territories

- (2) When the order appealed against is a mere refusal to exercise political control in regard to a judgment or order of any special Court established by the Governor-General in Council in such territories,

* Note to Rule 7 (1) of Section I—Memorials which are practically appeals for mercy or pardon must be transmitted. But their transmission will not affect the discretion in regard to capital sentences allowed to Local Governments Administrations and Political Officers by the Foreign and Political Department circular letter No 45 G, dated the 12th January 1917 from which Court there is, by its constitution, no appeal, though a general political control over it is declared or understood to exist.

- (3) When the order appealed against is a mere refusal to interfere in a matter of purely internal policy with the action or orders of the Ruler of an Indian State of which the memorialist is a subject, provided that the State is one in which it is not customary for the British Government to intervene in matters of internal policy, and that the matter complained of does not disclose a state of misrule so gross that the Paramount Power would be called upon to interfere.

N. B.—This rule applies to a temporary Administration established in an Indian State by the Governor-General in Council when the temporary Administration is appointed to exercise the same powers, and occupy the same position as the Native Administration which it supersedes.

8. Memorials from persons* in such territories which are not covered by these rules may be treated under the memorial rules of the Home Department when they are applicable.

9. The following special rules apply to the case of appeals against the orders of the Government of Bombay :—

(1) In the following cases the decision of the Local Government shall ordinarily be considered as final, and no appeal shall lie to the Government of India, an appeal to the Secretary of State for India only being admissible with the permission of the Local Government, which should be previously obtained :—

- (a) Giras cases in States of classes I to IV in Kathiawar which would have been tried by the Rajasthanik Court when it existed.

but are now tried by the States Huzur Courts from whose decision an appeal lies to the Agency and to the Local Government

b, Giras cases in States below class IV in which the decision of the Agent to the Governor, Kathiawar, is at present final under the rules sanctioned in Government Resolution No 6511, dated the 18th November 1898 subject to the general political control of the Local Government

(c) Cutch Jadeja Court cases

(2) Memorialists who desire to appeal against the orders of the Government of Bombay in political cases shall have the option of addressing such appeals either to the Government of India or to the Secretary of State and such appeals shall be forwarded subject to the provisions of Rules 6 and 7 This rule shall not apply to—

(a) Appeals in Giras cases or in those which are specially covered by any of the foregoing rules

(b) Memorials of the class specially reserved in Rule IV of the Rules published with Home Department Notification No 536 dated the 30th June 1916

(c) Memorials which involve questions affecting the status dignity or powers of a Ruling Prince or Chief or his relations with the Paramount Power (including questions of succession or adoption) and with other Ruling Princes and Chiefs

II —MEMORIALS ETC, ADDRESSED TO HIS MAJESTY THE KING EMPEROR OF INDIA, OR TO THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA

1 Every memorial must be submitted to the Political Officer of the State within whose jurisdiction the subject matter has arisen, accompanied by a copy of the order appealed against and by a letter requesting its transmission to the authority to which it is addressed.

2. Memorials may be transmitted either in manuscript or in print, but must, with all accompanying documents, be properly authenticated by the signature of the memorialist on each sheet.

3. Subject to the exceptions hereinafter contained, every memorial received which conforms to the above rules should be forwarded by the Political Officer through the usual official channel with a concise statement of material facts, and, unless there be special reasons to the contrary, an expression of opinion.

4. Memorial, together with their accompanying documents, should be in English. If the accompanying documents must necessarily be forwarded in the vernacular, an English translation should be appended, which should be attested by the signature of the memorialist on each sheet.

5. Every memorial should be accompanied by copies of all the orders passed in the case by the authorities who have dealt with it in India.

✓ 6. Local Governments, Administrations, and Political Officers* in direct subordination to the Foreign and Political Department of the Government of India are vested with discretionary power to withhold memorials addressed to His Majesty or to the Secretary of State in the following cases:—

(1) When the memorial is illegible or unintelligible.

(2) When the memorial contains language which, in the opinion of the authority who would otherwise forward it, is disloyal, disrespectful, or improper.

* Political Officers who are not Heads of Local Administrations may not exercise discretionary power to withhold memorials of the kind referred to in clauses (7) and (8) of rule 6.

- (3) When a previous petition of the memorialist (which term includes a rejoinder submitted by the memorialist in answer to a previous petition of some other party) has been disposed of by the Secretary of State and the petition discloses no new facts or circumstances which afford grounds for a reconsideration of the case
- (4) When the memorialist has not previously appealed to the Government of India (or the Government of Madras, Bombay or Bengal, as the case may be) and received the decision of the Governor General (or Governor) in Council upon it
- (5) When the memorial is an appeal preferred more than six months after the date on which the memorialist was informed of the orders against which he appeals, provided that the Local Government, Administration or Political Officer, as the case may be, may, at their or his discretion, extend the period to twelve months, if the delay will facilitate settlement of the dispute, or other good cause is shown
- (6) When the memorial refers to matters in which the memorialist is not personally interested
- (7) When the memorial is in effect an appeal in a boundary case between Indian States in which the decision, original or appellate, of the Political Officer has been passed after enquiry on the spot and confirmed on appeal by the Local Government, Local Administration or the Government of India, as the case may be
- (8) Cases which turn entirely on questions of fact, where the Political Officer an

Local Government or Local Administration are in agreement.

7. Provided they do not contravene the conditions specified in the preceding section, memorials which are appeals against orders passed by the Governor General in Council (or Governor in Council in Madras, Bombay or Bengal, as the case may be) in the exercise of political control in territories not included in British India, shall be forwarded, except in the following cases in which a discretionary power to withhold the memorials may be exercised :—

- (1)* When the order appealed against has been passed by the Government of India, Madras, Bombay or Bengal (as the case may be) as a recognised Court of Appeal in regard to a judgment or order of any Court of civil or criminal jurisdiction established or continued by the Governor-General in Council in such territories.

9 The following special rules apply to the case of appeal against the orders of the Government of Bombay —

(1) In the following cases the decision of the Local Government shall ordinarily be considered as final, an appeal to the Secretary of State for India only being admissible with the permission of the Local Government which should be previously obtained —

(a) Giras cases in States of classes I to IV in Kathiawar, which would have been tried by the Rajsthanik Court when it existed, but are now tried by the States Huzur Courts from whose decision an appeal lies to the Agency and to the Local Government

(2) Memorialists who desire to appeal against the orders of the Government of Bombay in political cases shall have the option of addressing such appeals either to the Government of India or to the Secretary of State and such appeal shall be forwarded subject to the provisions of Rules 6 and 7. When in the exercise of this option an appeal has been presented to the Government of India, no further appeal shall lie to the Secretary of State. This rule shall not apply to—

- (a) Appeals in Giras cases or in those which are specially covered by any of the foregoing rules ;
- (b) Memorials of the class specially reserved in Rule IV of the Rules published with Home Department Notification No. 536, dated the 30th June 1916 ;
- (c) Memorials which involve questions affecting the status, dignity or powers of a Ruling Prince or Chief or his relations with the Paramount Power (including questions of succession or adoption) and with other Ruling Princes and Chiefs.

III.—A list of memorials to the Secretary of State and of petitions to the Government of India withheld under the discretionary powers conferred by the above rules will be forwarded quarterly to the Government of India in the Foreign and Political Department.

IV.—When a petition or memorial is withheld, the writer should be informed of the fact and of the reason of withholding it.

Cf., Desp. from Secy. of State, No. 27 (Telegraph), dated 4th Sept. 1908. 2. These rules are permissive and do not require that memorials to which they are applicable should be withheld and cases may arise in which it may be advisable to transmit a memorial, the withholding of which is covered by the rules. If in any case there is any doubt whether a memorial can rightly be withheld under the rules, it is always desirable that the memorial should be transmitted.

3 Every memorial received for transmission <sup>of</sup> and not withheld under <sup>end</sup> the foregoing rules should <sup>dated</sup> ordinarily be forwarded within a month of the date <sup>1909,</sup> of receipt. In any instance in which this period is <sup>Home</sup> exceeded, an explanation of the cause of delay should <sup>Nos</sup> be given <sup>dated</sup> <sup>1908</sup>

4 The following procedure, which is in <sup>of</sup> force in British India, <sup>Dept</sup> is applicable, as far as <sup>G,</sup> <sup>Jany</sup> circumstances permit, in the case of the presentation to a Local Government or Administration (or Political Officer, if he is in direct relations with the Government of India) of a petition for mercy, addressed to His Majesty the King Emperor, the Secretary of State or the Governor General in Council, by or on behalf of a person sentenced to death by a court in an Indian State when the sentence requires the confirmation of a Political Officer —

I A convict under sentence of death shall be allowed for the preparation and submission of a petition for mercy to the Governor General in Council, seven days after, and exclusive of, the date on which the Superintendent of the jail has informed him of the rejection of his petition by the Local Government. Every petition addressed to the Governor General in Council which has been submitted within this period shall be forwarded to the Government of India, and the execution shall be postponed, pending the receipt of their orders.

II. Should a convict submit a petition for mercy addressed to the Governor General in Council after the seven days prescribed in rule I, the Local Government shall withhold it, except in the following circumstances, when the Local Government shall forward it to the Government of India and shall simultaneously postpone execution, pending the receipt of the orders of the Governor-General in Council :—

- (1) if the sentence of death was passed by the High Court, Chief Court, or Judicial Commissioner's Court upon an appeal against the acquittal of the petitioner by the Court of Session, or upon an application for enhancement of sentence, which has been preferred by the Local Government; or
- (2) when in the opinion of the Local Government there is any reasonable probability that the Government of India may take a different view of the propriety of the death sentence; or
- (3) when there are any other circumstances about the case which, in the opinion of the Local Government, render it desirable that the Governor-General in Council should have an opportunity of considering it.

III. When a petition for mercy is addressed to the Governor-General in Council through the Local Government, and no previous petition has been submitted to the latter authority, the Local Government should withhold the petition, treating it as if it were addressed to itself, in all cases, except when the death sentence is the result of an appeal against the convict's acquittal by the Court of Session, or of an application for enhancement of sentence, which has been preferred by the Local Government. In these cases, a petition addressed to the Governor-General in Council shall invariably be forwarded, even if the Local Government has not been previously memorialised.

IV. In all cases in which a Local Government submits a petition for mercy from a convict under sentence of death to the Governor General in Council, it should forward, with the records of the case, its observations in respect of any of the grounds urged in favour of commutation, and, if it had previously rejected any petition addressed to itself, a brief statement of the reasons therefor

V. The Local Government shall expedite as far as possible the process of transmitting petitions for mercy, along with the records of the case, to the Government of India, and upon receipt of the latter's orders shall immediately send a telegraphic acknowledgment. Telegraphic acknowledgments should also be made of all telegrams from the Government of India repeating telegrams or the substance of petitions received by them direct from, or on behalf of, convicts under sentence of death

VI. If the convict submits a petition addressed to His Majesty the King Emperor or the Secretary of State, the Local Government may dispose of it on its own responsibility when a previous petition has already been addressed to the Governor General in Council, or the period prescribed in rule I above for the presentation of such a petition has expired. In other cases, a petition addressed to His Majesty or to the Secretary of State should be treated as addressed to the Government of India and forwarded to them

In order to avoid, as far as possible, frequent postponements of the date of execution once fixed, Courts of Sessions are required to fix the period, between the date of receipt by them of the orders of the High Court, etc., confirming the sentence death and the date of execution, at from 21 to 28 days. With a view to minimise the delay connected with the consideration of petitions for mercy, the records of the case, as prepared for the use of the High Court, etc., together with the orders of the High Court, etc., thereon, are in all instances to be sent direct to the Local Government as soon as the death sentence has been confirmed, and without waiting for the receipt of a petition for mercy, to be retained until the execution is actually carried out. These records are invariably to be forwarded to the Government of India along with any petition for mercy transmitted by the Local Government.

As regards Indian States, the discretion vested in Local Governments and Administrations by rule III above does not apply to similar petitions received from persons condemned by courts in such territory, when the head of the Local Government or Administration concerned is also the authority which confirms the sentence. In such cases the head of the Local Government or Administration is not authorised to withhold the petition which must always be forwarded to the Governor General in Council for consideration.

5. The rules immediately preceding do not apply in the case of a petition for mercy addressed to the Governor-General in Council by or on behalf of a subject of an Indian State sentenced to death in such State when the State has full powers of life and death over its own subjects, and the sentence of death is not subject to the confirmation of or approval by a Political Officer. In such a case the petition should not be forwarded to the Government of India, unless, after enquiry or otherwise, there is reason to suppose that there has been a miscarriage of justice calling for interference.

Cf. For. Dept. Cir. No. 4337-I.A., dated 6th Nov. 1907. 6. Whenever a petition to the Viceroy for mercy in a murder case is forwarded, the prisoner's appeal, the judgment of the courts before whom the trial or appeal is heard, and all the more important papers connected with the case (or translations of them if the originals are in a vernacular) should be transmitted in type or print

The Rules and Orders of the Governor General in Council regulating the conduct of public servants in respect of borrowing money, receipt of complimentary addresses and other matters are contained in the enactments printed as an appendix to the following rules and in a number of Despatches, Circulars and Resolutions issued at various times. 19. Subject to the provisions of rule 17, a Government servant may contribute anonymously to the Press, but must confine himself within the limits of temperate and reasonable discussion; and, if his connection with the Press is contrary to the public interest, the local Government may withdraw his liberty to contribute. When there is room or doubt whether the connection of any Government servant with the Press is or is not contrary to the public interests, the matter should be referred to the Governor-General in Council for orders.

O. at least a fortnight before the supplies are required. Changes in dates, routes or quantities of supplies demanded will be communicated at once to all concerned. The losses caused thereby will only be borne by the State when competent financial authorities are satisfied that the alterations were necessary. Losses due to excessive estimating will be borne by the unit responsible. A separate indent will be prepared to meet the requirements of advance parties. The indent form enumerates the articles which may be demanded, and any other articles shall be arranged for privately. The advance party in conjunction with the I A S C will take over or reject supplies forwarded by the civil authorities. When supplies are being inspected a civil official should be present. Supplies can only be rejected by the I A S C and on the grounds that they are unfit for consumption. If supplies are unfit owing to the fault of the unit payment will be made by the unit. Demands for commodities such as sheep, fowls and eggs or for perishable articles will be made on the civil authorities, who will purchase the same and hand them over in bulk to the unit together with a bill made out at local rates and for the conveyance hire, if any. The civil supply official should report to the O C each evening whether any claims remain unsettled and if so, the latter will personally see to their immediate settlement. The civil official should endorse all receipt entries and payments made, and the O C troops will accept receipts unless so endorsed.

7 The O C troops are responsible to the Government for the conduct of their troops and followers or personnel. Complaints from the public will be received and settled if possible.

All camps will be kept in a state of readiness for any emergency.

Rules for the supply of carriage by the civil authorities, being Appendix XVI referred to in paragraph 561 of Army Regulations, India, Volume II.

8. Indents on the civil authorities for hired carriage required for the movements of troops or stores will be prepared on I. A. F. S.-1675, giving full details of requirements, and sent so as to reach the district or political officer concerned, if possible, not less than fifteen days (one month in Gwalior State) before the carriage is required.

9. Hired carriage will not ordinarily be required to proceed beyond the limits of the next civil district on the route, but will be exchanged, if possible, at such stations as may be fixed by the local civil authorities. It will be paid for at the authorized local hire rates from the date on which it is engaged by the civil officer for the march to the date of its discharge, both inclusive. If double marches are undertaken double rates will be paid for each march. Half hire will be paid for the return journey from the exchanging station to the place where the carriage was engaged. If the carriage is taken beyond the exchanging station full hire will be paid for the return journey from the place where the carriage is released to the place where it was engaged, without any allowance for the halts. If the carriage has to be collected before the date on which it is required, the civil authorities will notify the indenting officer the time required for collection prior to the start, and the probable extra expense that will be incurred. Carriage which ordinarily ply for hire, and are on the list to be kept by the district officer will first be called upon, and the balance will be made up by impressment. Carriage indented for in excess of requirements and discharged, will be paid for at the full hire rate for each day or part of a day for which it is retained. If carriage is declared unserviceable through deliberate fault or culpable negligence of the cartman, by a committee of officers (which will include a civil officer) it will not be paid for. When chaudhris are engaged to collect carriage their fees at the local rates will be paid by the Army Department

10 On engagement of the carriage, the civil or political officer will advance to the owners half the estimated hire for the full journey. The carriage will be sent to the place required in charge of a tahsil or darbar official, who will hand to the indenting officer a detail of the composition of the carriage, authorized loads, hire rates, owners' names, amount advanced and receipts for the same, and intimation as to the station at which the carriage should be exchanged (see I A F S 1675). The amount advanced will be at once repaid to the civil officer by the I A S C.

11 The civil officer supplying the carriage will at the same time warn the civil officer at the first exchanging station of the transport requiring exchange, and the date and place at which it will be required, the latter will then proceed as in paragraph 10, and warn the next exchanging station. Similar action will be taken at each exchanging station on the route.

12 Should any change be required en route in the original quantity and description of transport supplied, the Officer Commanding the troops will give the civil officer at the exchanging station concerned as much notice as possible.

13 Carriage breaking down between exchanging stations should be replaced on the spot in communication with the local civil officials, and paid off. If the advance received has not been liquidated the owner must refund the amount then due.

14 On arrival at an exchanging station, or at destination, the carriage will be at once released and paid off by the I A S C Officer, if there is one, otherwise by a British officer of the marching unit in the presence of the civil official attached to the troops, the acquittance roll being signed by both and countersigned by the Officer Commanding. Any disputes will be referred to, and settled by, the district civil officer at the place at which the transport is released.

15. If carts are brought from a distance and detained at a camp of exercise, etc., the full rate of hire will be paid for each day for such detention. Carriage will not, however, be detained at a camp which lasts for five days or over, except in very special circumstances.

16. When carriage is discharged, a certificate in English and the vernacular should be given by the civil officer at the exchanging station, or by the civil officer accompanying the troops, to each person in charge thereof, to protect the carriage from being taken for the use of troops while on its return journey, unless such troops are marching in the direction of the owner's home. If so employed, the full hire rate will be paid.

INSTRUCTIONS REGARDING MANŒUVRES AND TRAINING CAMPS FOR THE GUIDANCE OF CIVIL AND MILITARY OFFICERS.

(1) The term "civil" refers equally in the case of Indian States, to the Darbar or political officer as the case may be.

(2) The term district commander includes independent brigade commander.

I.—General Principles.

It is realised that the size of India, its varying conditions of climate, seasons and environment, combine to render it impracticable to compile a single set of rules to regulate the conduct of manœuvres which would be suitable for general application throughout the country. It has therefore been found preferable to issue certain general instructions, based on a few main principles, and leave their application in matters of detail to the mutual good understanding and common sense of the civil, political and military officers whose duty it may be to apply them

The following are the main principles referred to —

- (a) That training in the open country and manœuvres are a necessity for the efficiency of an army for the duties for which it is maintained, and also that if training is to be thorough it should take place, as often as possible, on ground new to the troops
- (b) That as the burden or inconvenience caused by the incidence of manœuvres is one which, for obvious reasons cannot be equally shared by the community at large it is of the utmost importance that any such burden or inconvenience to the individual should be reduced to a minimum, and that any actual loss or damage, present or prospective, should receive early and adequate compensation
- (c) That it is only by the closest co operation between military and civil officers that the above conditions are attainable

II—Selection of training and manœuvre areas

1 District commanders will, in co operation with the local civil authorities, prepare manœuvre maps of their commands, marking on them areas where troops can be readily concentrated and economically maintained with a minimum of disturbance, dislocation of business and inconvenience to the local population. For this purpose local gazetteers should be freely consulted and will be found to be of much assistance. These maps should be revised periodically and should show in distinctive colours the areas most suitable for divisional and brigade manœuvres, collective training of all units field firing and artillery practice camps.

At such time as may be found mutually convenient, the district commander will, in consultation with the civil authorities, select the areas for divisional and other manœuvres, practice camps etc., during the ensuing training season, the general principle being that as many years as possible should elapse between manœuvres in the same area—the minimum to be aimed at being one clear year. It should, however, be understood that this system of rotation of areas does not apply to ordinary collective training or to minor operations of two or three days' duration held in the vicinity of cantonments, when troops are self-supplied, nor to waste areas. Commanders concerned should, however, be careful to safeguard the interests of cultivators against any abuse of this principle.

3. The dates for the proposed manœuvres should be fixed after consultation with the civil authorities who should be provided as soon as possible with a map of the area and general information regarding the proposed disposition of troops and the general arrangements of supply during manœuvres.

III.—Field firing and artillery practice camps.

In framing a scheme for a field firing exercise the first consideration should be the selection of a tract of country, the temporary occupation of which will cause the least possible inconvenience to the inhabitants; it follows that waste land should, when practicable, be selected and that it will rarely be possible to make a field firing exercise a continuation or finale of manœuvres. A scheme should then be framed which will fit in with the ground chosen. If these principles be followed it should rarely be necessary to require the evacuation of villages. Should, however, such a course be unavoidable, all arrangements connected with the evacuation will be in the hands of the civil authorities who will, in consultation with the military authorities, decide the terms under which the evacuation will take place and the amount or scale of compensation, if any, for disturbance or loss of earnings to be paid to the inhabitants. The question of compensation should also be considered in cases where actual evacuation is held to be unnecessary and where a sufficient margin of safety can be secured by confining inhabitants within certain limits. In all cases it should be clearly understood that mutual agreement, between the civil and military authorities as to the conditions under which the field firing may be held, must be reached before the exercise takes place, and sufficiently long beforehand so that arrangements for training may not be upset.

IV.—Compensation.

1. The machinery for assessment of compensation will vary according to circumstances. As a rule it will be preferable in the case of manœuvres to employ a staff of compensation officers—military and civil—the military side of the staff including, as a rule, Indian officers. If these compensation officers are unable to agree they must refer the matter for the decision of the civil district officer or corresponding authority. When a joint commission is not appointed, the civil authorities will be the sole arbiters, and their decision must be accepted.

2. The methods of assessing compensation can be best considered under two headings:—

(a) Damage to movable or immovable property.—

Such as wells, walls, trees, houses and live stock, etc. In this case payment on the spot is preferable. Where a joint commission is employed, it will dispose of all claims on the spot, as far as possible, pay in cash the sum awarded to, and take an acquittance from the claimant. When there is no commission, claims will be referred to the local civil authorities for immediate disposal.

(b) Damages to crops.—With regard to what is considered “remediable” damage, such as damage caused by the movement of troops, it will usually be preferable, in the case of manœuvres, for the joint commission to arrange for payment of compensation on the spot direct to the injured individual. As an alternative, the civil officer should keep a progressive statement of the area damaged together with a rough estimate of the amount of compensation to be finally awarded and keep the military commander concerned informed thereof at periodical intervals; the final award being made if possible when the harvest is gathered, or in the Punjab, where the harvest is late, before the end of March, so as to enable the charges to be debited to the training grant for the year. This latter course is one which will usually be the more convenient in the assessment of damage caused by troops training in the vicinity of cantonments.

3. It is of the first importance that the terms under which compensation shall be assessed should be decided before the training season by military and civil authorities in consultation, made known to all concerned, and that claims should be kept to the lowest figure by judicious selection of ground and avoidance of cultivated areas at a season when the crops are most susceptible of damage. The advice of civil officials on these points should always be obtained, and if it can be arranged that this can take the form of a series of lectures on local conditions and methods of cultivation in the district, the best results may be expected to follow.

4. As regards payment of compensation, the principle to be observed is that when possible payments should be made on the spot, direct to the claimant and through as few intermediaries as practicable.

5. In the case of manœuvres the cost of any distinguishing badges for, and any expenditure incurred on, the compensation staff will be defrayed out of the training grant.

6. Military officers are forbidden to award certificates to civil officials such as tahsildars, naib-tahsildars or kanungos.

V.—Transport and Supplies.

1. Government transport will be utilised as far as possible; when hired transport has to be resorted to and the assistance of the civil authorities in connection with obtaining it is required, the rules laid down in Army Regulations, India, Vol II, paragraph 561 and Appendix XVI will be adhered to

2 As regards the collection of supplies, the rules contained in Army Regulations, India, Vol II chapter XI will be followed

In fixing the prices at which supplies locally procurable are to be paid for, "price current" means the price at which the civil officer, having regard to the facilities for the supply at the halting place or camping ground, is prepared to deliver supplies thereat, and does not mean the price ordinarily prevailing in the neighbourhood

VI—Orders to be issued to the troops

Special orders on the following subjects will be issued, after consultation with the head of the civil district concerned by army, divisional or brigade headquarters concerned before the commencement of manœuvres, similar orders should also be included in the standing orders of each station for the guidance of officers conducting field training. If properly carried out by responsible officers, such orders will tend to keep down needless claims for compensation and remove possible chances of friction between soldiers and villagers—

- (a) Damage and loss of fruit, garden, field or farm produce, young or standing crops, etc
- (b) Cutting or damage to trees, especially from camel grazing
- (c) Destruction or damage to hedges, fences etc
- (d) Officers' servants and camp followers
- (e) Incomplete obliteration of latrines
- (f) Restrictions regarding entrance into villages, places of worship, shrines, etc
- (g) Restrictions as to destruction of peafowl, monkeys, pigeons, etc, in places where such are held sacred
- (h) Duty of commanding officers to report at once any damage caused by troops
- (i) Treatment of hired transport drivers

APPENDIX IX.

Instructions for the use of officers appointed as tutors and guardians to Ruling Princes and Chiefs or their sons.

Foreign Deptt.
D. O. Circular to Local Governments and Political off.
cers dated the 14th
August 1909.

1. The guardian should understand that he is at the absolute disposal of his pupil at all times and that no private or personal considerations should stand in the way of his duty towards his charge.

2. It follows that he must give up for the time being any special pursuit or recreation in which he should happen to be interested unless he can conscientiously share it with his pupil.

3. He should be careful not to mix himself up in, or interfere with, local politics. If his pupil is a Ruling Prince's or Chief's son whose father is alive, he should take his instructions from, and defer to, the Prince or Chief in all matters and should have no dealings with any State official. In the case of a minor Ruler, whose State is under administration, he should similarly consider himself as directly subordinate to the Political Officer in charge. At the same time he should maintain friendly relations with all concerned in the administration of the State and should be careful not to prejudice the mind of his pupil against any particular official or noble of the State.

4. In some cases he may find himself in conflict with the ladies of the zenana, who are generally anxious to exercise as much influence as possible over a minor Ruler. This will give rise at times to a difficult situation, and much tact and patience will be required. In such circumstances he should be guided by his sense of duty towards his pupil, and while always studiously polite and considerate towards the wishes and even prejudices of the zenana ladies, he should be firm in carrying out the instructions he has received from the Political Officer, and in doing what he conceives best in the interests of his charge.

5. He should not attempt to influence his ward in matters of religion, except that he should encourage him to adhere to all State and religious customs and ceremonies until at any rate he is of sufficient age to judge of these matters for himself.

6. He should encourage his pupil to move in European society, to be loyal to the British connection, and to realise the benefits his State has derived from its dependence on the protection of the Paramount Power. But this does not imply any necessity for encouraging him to eat with Europeans, unless this is expressly desired by the boy's father, or to abandon any of the ancient and cherished customs of his race and religion.

7. He should enjoin upon his pupil the importance of keeping on good terms with his brother Princes and Chiefs, to give in on small and unimportant points of etiquette, if this will help to establish friendly relations, and not to despise or laugh at the ways and manners of Princes and Chiefs more old-fashioned than himself.

8. It is hardly necessary to lay down that on taking over charge the first point to look to will be the boy's morals and general behaviour, the formation in fact of his character; the second point, his health and the condition of his surroundings, and the third, the nature of his studies.

9. The first and second of these points, while they are far the most important, will at the same time be generally the most difficult to deal with, as long as the boy remains at home. It is most necessary that he should not be estranged or isolated from the society of his own people. At the same time he must, as far as possible, be kept away from flatterers and sycophants and especially, as he grows older, from the ever-present and degrading influences which would lead him into immorality of every kind. To protect him from this his time should be fully occupied with manly outdoor games and pursuits and his surroundings should be clean and healthy, to attain which local prejudices will have to be gradually surmounted by tact and personal influence and persuasion.

10. As regards studies these must of course be adjusted to the age and abilities of the pupil. But as boys in these days will probably join a Chiefs' college with their guardians, the latter's duties in this respect will generally consist in merely assisting his ward in preparing his lessons. If the boy has not yet joined a college, the guardian should ordinarily confine himself to teaching the boy to talk, read and write English. This will ensure him a good start on joining.

11. The guardian should not rebuke or criticise his pupil in the presence of servants or subordinates or except in special circumstances, before any other third party.

C. For. Dept.
Cir. No. 219-I.B.;
dated 23rd Jan.

12. The direction contained in paragraph 3, that the guardian of a minor Prince or Chief whose State is under administration, should consider himself as directly subordinate to the Political Officer in charge, governs the case of a minor Ruler while in India; but when a minor Ruler is in England for education or similar purposes, the tutor or guardian is directly subordinate to the Secretary of State and to no one else, as regards all questions connected with the Ruler's education or the arrangements to be made for his comfort. In such cases, the Political Officer of the State should communicate with the Ruler or his guardian through the Government of India, though there is no objection, in questions of urgency, to his sending direct to the Secretary of State copies of important communications which he is making to the Government of India. The tutor or guardian, on the other hand, should correspond regularly with the Political Aide-de-Camp to the Secretary of State.

These instructions do not apply to references to an absent Ruling Prince or Chief regarding the current business of the State.

APPENDIX X.

Procedure to be observed in connection with the transfer of the services of a Government officer to another Government office or department.

1 It is the duty of a Government officer, who wishes to transfer his services to a different Government office or department, to obtain the consent of the authority which appoints to his existing post before taking up the new employment. If he takes up the new employment without such consent, he commits a breach of discipline and is liable to be punished, in the last resource, by dismissal from his former post and consequent loss of pensionable service. Resignation of his former appointment will not, it should be noted, protect him from this penalty.

2 In granting or withholding consent to the acceptance by a subordinate of other Government employment, the head of an office or department must consider whether the transfer will be consistent with the interests of the public service. Permission should not be refused, however, without strong reason, which should be recorded in writing.

3 The head of an office or department shall not employ, either temporarily or permanently, an officer whom he knows, or has reason to believe, to belong to another establishment without the previous consent of the head of the office or department in which he is employed. In the rare case in which for reasons which appear satisfactory to the new employer an officer cannot obtain the required consent before taking up the new appointment, the employment may be made conditional on consent being obtained at the earliest opportunity.

4 The foregoing instructions apply equally to officers on leave whether with or without allowances. All leave allowances must ipso facto cease on the taking up of new employment other than that of a purely casual nature.

Rules regulating the admission of officers to the Political Department of the Government of India.

I Rules regulating the admission of Junior Military officers to the Political Department

In supersession of the orders contained in the O. For Dept. Notification by the Government of India in the Notifs No 3163 Est. A. dated 6th Foreign Department, No 1680 G, dated the 27th Oct 1910 and July 1906 the Governor General in Council is No 2016 Est A., dated 31st August 1914 and 135 Est A., dated 25th Jan. 1916 pleased to publish the following rules regulating the admission of junior military officers to the Political Department of the Government of India —

1 All applications for employment in the Political Department should be submitted officially through the proper channels, with information in the form attached. Such applications will be considered in the Foreign and Political Department and each candidate will be duly informed, through the military authorities, of the result of his application. Applications should not be submitted until the applicant has passed all the prescribed examinations for admission to the Indian Army, and officers will not be appointed to the Department until they have qualified for promotion to the rank of Captain.

Officers are not ordinarily eligible for appointment to the Political Department if they are married*.

2 The name of an accepted candidate for the Political Department will ordinarily be removed from the list (a) in the event of his marriage, or (b) if he should obtain any other permanent extra regimental employ, e.g. in the Bombay Political Department, or the Military Accounts Department, or (c) when he completes seven years' army service, or attains the age of twenty seven years. 264

*Note This rule does not apply in the case of Indian officers

3. In making selections much weight will be given to linguistic attainments, especially in the languages specified in the margin.

Urdu and Hindi, Persian,
Pushtu, Arabic, Russian, French.

4. Officers selected for employment in the Political Department will be required to undergo a medical examination.

5. First appointments to the Political Department will ordinarily be made with effect from the 1st April in each year; and all officers who are appointed to the Department will be on probation for a period of not less than three years, from date of first appointment.

6. An officer, on first appointment to the Political Department, will, as a general rule, be attached to a district in the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh for a period of not less than eighteen months, to undergo a course of training in revenue and judicial work similar to that prescribed for Assistant Collectors in that Province, and to acquire proficiency in Urdu. During this period he will be required to pass a departmental test, which will be identical with that prescribed for members of the Indian Civil Service in the United Provinces, except that (1) the use of books will be allowed in all subjects, except in Urdu and in Treasury and Accounts, (2) Probationers will not be expected to pass the local examination in Hindi. Particular importance will be attached to a probationer's ability to speak Urdu fluently and in a manner befitting the occasion. An officer who has passed the Proficiency examination in Urdu will be exempted from further examination in that language while undergoing training in the United Provinces.

7. Should an officer fail to pass the departmental examination within the period of his training, he will ordinarily revert to military duty.

8. On the expiry of the period of preliminary training, a probationer will be posted for six months to an Indian State or a Frontier District, for training in political or frontier work. At the end of this period, his general knowledge of Indian History and political subjects or frontier conditions will be tested by examination which will be both oral and in writing and include questions on the following works —

Indian States — Tod's "Rajasthan," Malcolm's "Central India," Sleeman's "Rambles and Recollections," Lyall's "Asiatic Studies," and in the case of —

The Frontier — Edwardes' "Year on the Punjab Frontier" Thornton's "Life of Sir Robert Sandeman," Chisolm's "The Middle Eastern Question"

During the period of an officer's probation, reports on his work and general suitability for the Political Department will be submitted once every six months through the proper channels, by the Collector or Political Officer under whom he is serving. Should an officer marry during this period he will ordinarily revert to military duty.

B. If a decoré is already a Knight Grand Commander or a Knight Commander of an Order and is to receive the Star of a senior Order he should on the occasion of his investiture, wear the Star (and not the ribbon and badge) of the junior Order low enough on his left breast to permit of the Star of the senior Order being affixed above it.

C. Medals are worn in their order of precedence, the first medal being placed farthest from the left shoulder. The length of the ribbon by which a medal is attached should not exceed one inch, unless owing to the number of clasps, it is necessary to issue a longer ribbon. The top of the ribbon should be on a line between the first and second buttons of the coat.

D. Ribbons are worn on the left breast and when there are more ribbons than one to be worn, they are sewn on to the cloth of the coat in a row, without intervals. Or should he decline to receive or fail to obtain any such lease as aforesaid, the amount will be returned to him on his satisfying the Darbar that the condition in rule 12 (vi) has been complied with and on his furnishing the Darbar with the information required by rule 15.

the land: in the case of natural petroleum the license shall be granted for two years in the first instance or such shorter term as the applicant may desire, and may be further renewed by the Collector for one year at a time up to a total period of five years from the date of commencement of the original license.

Provided that, when the licensee has, before the termination of the period of the licence, applied for the grant of a mining lease, the period of the licence may be further extended until a mining lease is granted.

(ii) The licensee shall pay a fee not exceeding one rupee, and not less than one anna, per acre of the land covered by the licence for each year or portion of a year of the term for which the license is granted. When a licence is renewed under the last foregoing condition, a fresh fee shall be payable, subject to the same maximum and minimum charge, for each year or part of a year for which the licence is renewed. But no fee shall be payable for an extension of the term of licence under the proviso to that condition.

(iii) The licensee shall pay royalty at a rate not exceeding 15 per cent of the value on all precious stones won and carried away, and a royalty at the rates specified in Schedule A in Part IV of these rules on all other minerals won and carried away over and above such quantity as is allowed in Schedule B to be taken free for purposes of experiment.

(iv) The licensee shall make and pay such reasonable satisfaction and compensation, as may be assessed by lawful authority in accordance with the law in force on the subject applying to the

(v) The licensee may, with the previous sanction of the Darbar, assign his licence or transfer any right or interest thereunder to a subject of the Darbar or other person holding a valid certificate of approval subject to the condition that every such assignment or transfer shall, within three calendar months from the date of its completion, be registered on payment of a fee of rupees fifty.

(vi) In case of any breach on the part of the licensee or his transferee or assignee of any of the preceding clauses, the Darbar may summarily revoke the licence, and thereupon all rights conferred thereby or enjoyed thereunder shall cease; or may in lieu thereof declare to be forfeited the whole or any part of the deposit made by the licensee under rule 9.

(vii) Save in the case of land over which the licensee shall have been granted a mining lease on or before the determination of the licence, he shall, within six months next after the determination of the licence or the date of the abandonment of the undertaking, whichever shall first occur, securely plug any bores and fill up or fence any holes or excavations that he may have made in the land to such extent as the Darbar may require, and shall to the like extent restore the surface of the land and all buildings thereon which he may have damaged in the course of prospecting

Provided that the licensee shall not be compelled to restore the surface of land or any buildings in respect of which full and proper compensation has already been paid under condition (iv)

(viii) Should any question or dispute arise regarding the licence or any matter or thing connected therewith or the powers of the licensee thereunder, or the amount or payment of the fee or royalty made payable thereby, the matter in difference shall be referred to arbitration

13 On or before the determination of his licence the licensee shall have a right to a mining lease in accordance with the terms contained in the rules for mining leases

15 If so required by the Darbar, the licensee shall, before the deposit made under rule 9 is returned to him, disclose confidentially to the Darbar all information acquired in the course of the operations carried on under the licence regarding the minerals contained in, or the geological formation of, any area not taken up by him under a mining lease

PART III —MINING LEASES.

16 Every application for the grant of a mining lease shall be accompanied by a deposit, as security in respect of preliminary expenses, of such sum, not exceeding Rs 500, as the Darbar may determine. If the application relates to an area for which the applicant holds a prospecting licence, any amount held in deposit under rule 9 in respect of such prospecting licence will be carried to his account.

The amount of any deposit made under rule 9, less any expenses incurred by or on behalf of the Darbar, will, if the depositor be granted a mining lease, be carried to his credit, as part of the rent or royalties payable under the lease, or if he declines or fails to obtain any such lease as aforesaid, will be returned to him.

17. Every application for a mining lease shall contain the following particulars :—

- (a) the name, residence and profession of the applicant if he is an individual, or if the applicant is a company, syndicate, private firm or partnership, its name and nature and place of business, and if the place of business is outside India, the name and residence of a member or duly authorised agent resident in India ;
- (b) a specification of the mineral or minerals for which the applicant intends to mine ;
- (c) a description, illustrated by a map or plan, showing as accurately as possible the situation, boundaries and area of the land with respect to which the lease is required ;
- (d) a statement showing all areas within the jurisdiction of the Darbar already held by the applicant or by any person joint in interest with him in prospecting or mining right ;
- (e) the period for which the lease is required.

18. In the case of two or more applications affecting the same land and presented by applicants who are not in possession of, or have not applied for, prospecting licences in respect thereof the prior right to a lease shall ordinarily be deemed to lie with the applicant who, being either a subject of the Darbar or the holder of a valid certificate of approval and after compliance with the procedure prescribed by the rules, shall have been the first to file his application.

19. On receipt of the application, the Darbar will, if the applicant is entitled to a lease under rule 13, or if they consider that the applicant should be granted a mining lease grant the same in accordance with these rules over such area as they may think fit, but no mining lease will be granted by the Darbar under these rules so as ordinarily to cause the total area held under mining lease for minerals of whatsoever kind other than natural petroleum by the lessee or by those joint in interest with him to exceed ten square miles within the territories administered by the Darbar.

Provided that in the case of natural petroleum the Local Government shall not grant to any one lessee or those joint in interest with him leases for any area exceeding 150 square miles within the territories administered by it.

20. If a lease is not executed within six months after leave has been granted for it, the right of the applicant to such lease shall be held to have lapsed, unless the Darbar for special reasons consents to grant the same notwithstanding the delay or considers that the delay is not attributable to the applicant.

21. The length of an area held under a mining lease shall not be allowed to exceed four times its breadth; but this rule may be relaxed in the case of areas in river beds held on lease for dredging purposes.

22. The boundaries below the surface of all areas given out on mining lease under these rules shall be considered to run vertically downwards towards the centre of the earth.

23. The term for which a mining lease may be granted shall not exceed 30 years, but the lease may contain a clause permitting renewal for a period not exceeding 30 years, on a dead and surface rent exceeding twice the original dead and surface respectively, the royalty payable being that which may on the day next following that on which the original lease shall determine, be in force under the orders of competent authority; in the case of iron-ore the original lease may also contain a clause permitting a second renewal for a further period not exceeding 30 years on a dead and surface rent not exceeding twice the dead and surface rent respectively fixed for the first renewal of the lease, the royalty payable being that which may on the day next following that on which the first renewal shall determine be in force under the orders of competent authority.

24. Every mining lease shall contain such conditions and stipulations as the Darbar may in each case consider necessary; and shall in every case contain the following conditions, namely :—

- (i) The lessee shall pay a royalty or royalties at the rate specified in the lease which rate or rates shall be those fixed for the particular mineral or minerals in Schedule A in Part IV of these rules; and if any other mineral shall be discovered by him, then the royalty shall be paid therefor at such rate not being less than 20 per cent. of the value thereof, as the Darbar may determine, until a mining lease has been obtained in respect of such mineral; but the lessee shall be entitled within twelve months from the discovery of such mineral to require and obtain such lease for the term then unexpired of his original lease; provided that, if he declines to take a lease as above provided, the Darbar may give a lease in respect of such mineral to any other person.
- (ii) The lessee shall also pay for every year after the first year a fixed yearly dead rent at a rate not less than that laid down in Schedule C in Part IV of these rules, provided that no lessee shall pay both royalty and dead rent in respect of the same lease, but only such one of them as may be of the greater amount, and provided further in the case of leases for iron ore that when a lessee is granted more than one such lease he may, if he so desire, claim that for the purpose of determining whether royalty or dead rent is payable, all such leases granted to him shall be treated as one concession. In that event he shall be liable to pay dead rent only when the sum of the royalties paid by him in respect of such leases for the year is less than the sum of the dead rents assessed under those leases or is less than such other amount as the local Government, having regard to the circumstances of the case, may fix as the combined dead rent in respect of all the leases, and the amount of dead rent so payable shall be the amount by which the sum of the royalties paid for the year falls short of the sum of the dead rents or the combined dead rent so determined.

- (iii) The lessee shall also pay for all land which he may take up, use or occupy for the purposes of the mine a surface rent at the rate specified in Schedule D
- (iv) The lessee shall at his own expense erect and at all times maintain and keep in repair boundary marks and pillars according to the demarcation to be shown in a plan annexed to his lease
- (1) The lessee shall make and pay such reasonable satisfaction and compensation, as may be assessed by lawful authority in accordance with the law in force on the subject applying to the lands over which the lease has been granted, for all damage, injury or disturbance which may be done by him in exercise of the powers granted by the lease, and shall indemnify the Darbar against all claims which may be made by third parties in respect of any such damage, injury or disturbance.

(vi) The lessee shall not cut or injure any tree reserved in the lease.

(vii) The lessee may with the previous sanction of the Darbar assign his lease or transfer any right or interest thereunder either to a subject of the State or to a person holding a valid certificate of approval subject to the condition that every such assignment or transfer shall within three calendar months from the date of its completion be registered on payment of a fee of rupees fifty:

(viii) Unless good cause exists for exemption from this condition, a question on which the decision of the Local Government shall be final, the lessee shall commence operations within one year from the date of the execution of the lease and shall thereafter carry them on effectually in a proper, skilful and mining-like manner. Should the lessee cease without such cause to work the mine for a period exceeding two years in such a manner as to produce sufficient mineral to earn a royalty at least equal to the dead rent, it shall be deemed a breach of this condition.

NOTE.—For the purpose of the first part of this condition, such measures as the erection of machinery for the purposes of working the mine, although not necessarily on the land covered by the lease, or the construction of roads or tramways in connection with the mine, shall be deemed to be sufficient compliance with the requirement of commencing operations.

(ix) The lessee shall keep correct accounts showing the quantity and particulars of all minerals obtained from the mine and the number of persons employed therein, and also complete plans of the mine, and shall allow any officer authorised by the Darbar in that behalf at any time to examine such accounts and plans, and shall furnish the Darbar with such information and returns in respect of the aforesaid matter as it may prescribe.

- (x) The lessee shall allow existing and future licence, or lease-holders of any land, which is comprised in or adjoins or is reached by the land held by the lessee, reasonable facilities of access thereto.
- (xi) The lessee shall allow any officer authorised by the Darbar in that behalf to enter upon the premises comprised in the lease for the purpose of inspecting the same
- (xii) The lessee shall without delay report to the Darbar the discovery on or within any of the lands or mines demised by the lease of any mineral not specified in the lease.
- (xiii) The Darbar shall have the right of pre-emption, at current market rates, over all minerals demised by the lease.
- (xiv) Should the royalty or rent reserved or made payable by the lease be not paid within two months next after the date fixed in the lease for payment of the same, the Darbar may enter upon the said premises and distrain all or any of the minerals or movable property thereon, and may order the sale of such property so distrained or so much thereof as will suffice for the satisfaction of the rent or royalty due and the expenses occasioned by the enforcement thereof; and, if

remain at any time unpaid for six calendar months after the date on which it is due, the Darbar may determine the lease and take possession of the premises comprised therein.

(xv) In case of any breach on the part of the lessee of any covenant or condition contained in the lease, the Darbar may determine the lease and take possession of the said premises ; or, in the alternative, may accept payment of a penalty, not exceeding twice the amount of the annual dead rent, from the lessee.

(xvi) At the end or sooner determination of the lease, the lessee shall deliver up the said premises and all mines (if any) dug therein in a proper and workman-like state, save in respect of any working as to which the Darbar may have sanctioned abandonment.

(xvii) Should any question or dispute arise regarding the lease or any matter or thing connected with the mines and minerals leased or the working or non-working thereof or the amount or payment of the royalty or rent reserved or made payable by the lease, the matter in difference shall be referred to arbitration.

25. The lessee shall be at liberty to determine the lease at any time on giving not less than twelve calendar months' notice in writing to the Darbar : and upon the expiration of such notice, provided that all sums due on account of the lease shall have been paid the lease shall be determined. When a lessee exercises his option of determining a lease, he shall not, except with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, be granted subsequently a new lease over a portion only of the land covered by the original lease.
